Farewell to Seattle
September 22, 1963

A Moment of Tragedy

Awe-stricken and shocked students grieved at the assassination of a great leader and President on November 22, 1963. During the hours and days following President Kennedy's death, the youth of our nation displayed a characteristic many adults had thought lacking in the younger generation. They showed great patriotism and gave strength and hope to a nation that was not sure what the future might provide.

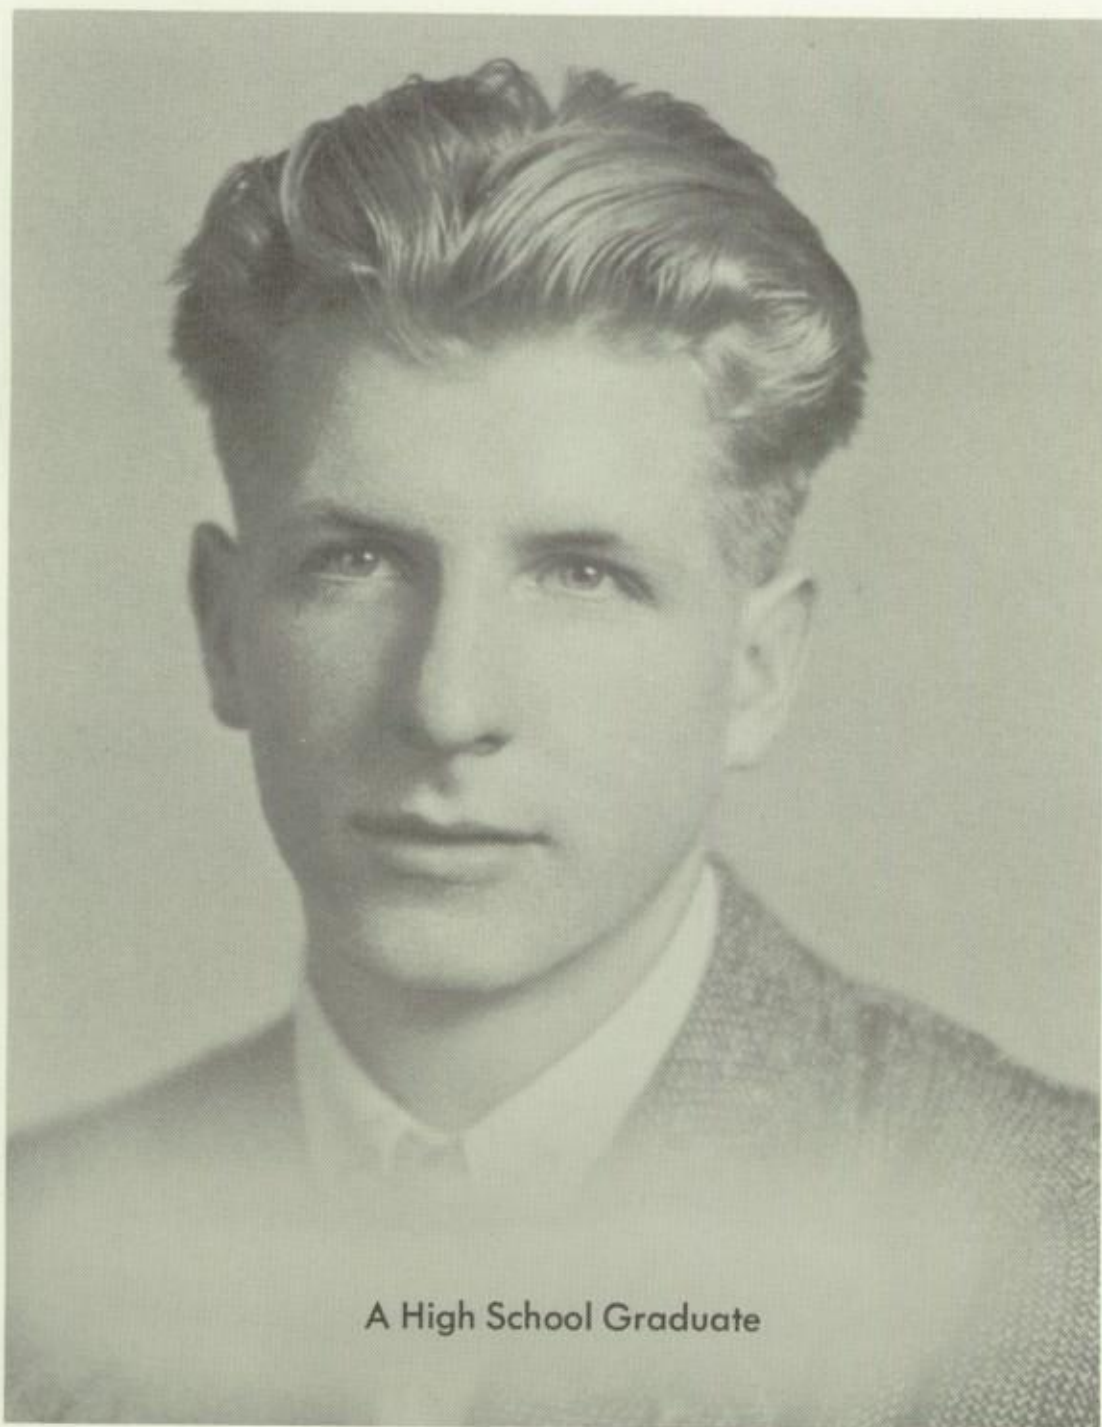

On these two pages, the CASCADIAN staff attempts to portray the unmeasurable sorrow of the recent period of national tragedy and the deep loss to us, the students at Enumclaw Senior High.

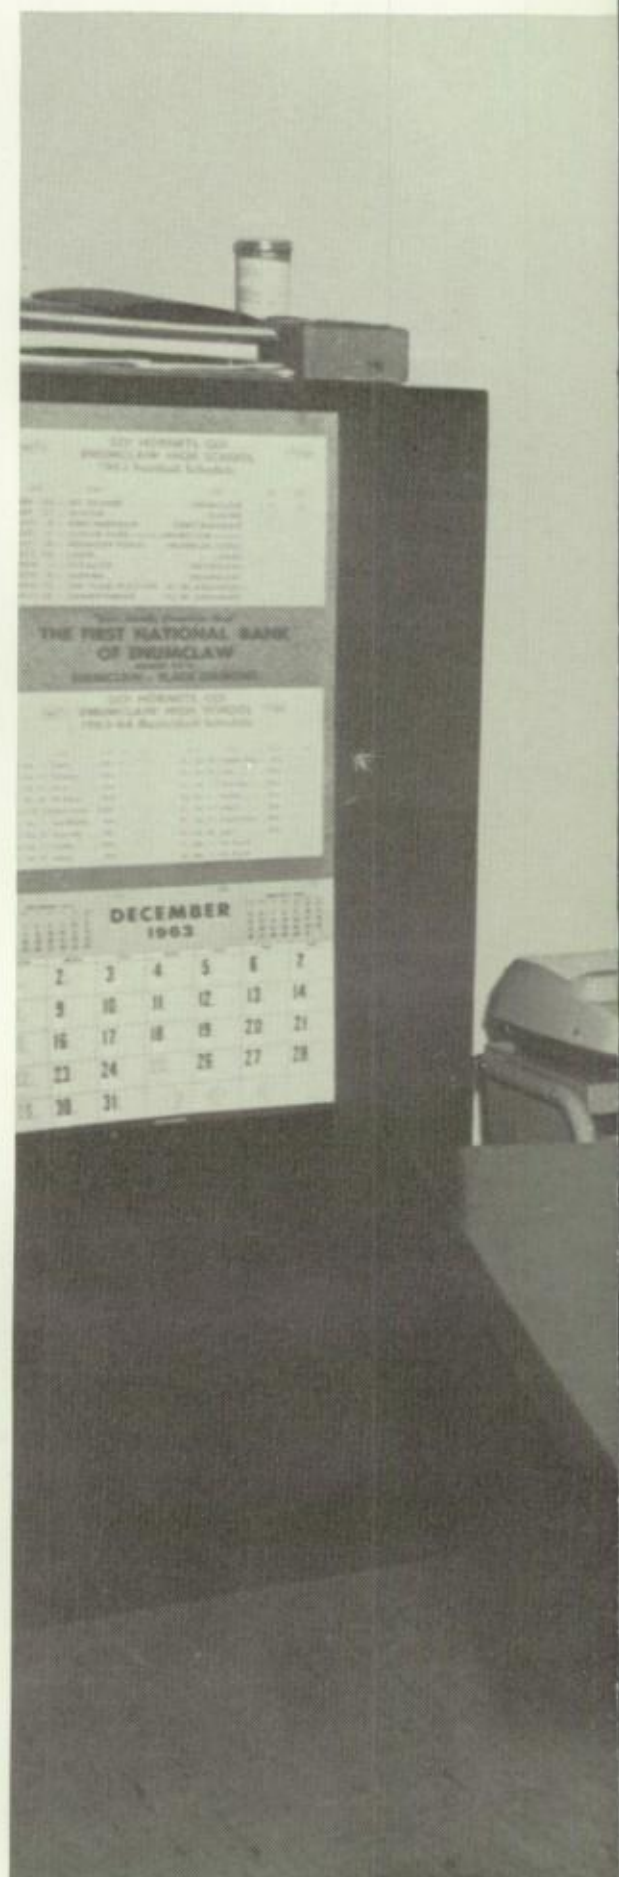

His Life a Memory

We Dedicate

From the time of his graduation, this man has worked steadily to increase his own knowledge so that he might also help students to progress towards a better education. For seven years he has been serving students at Enumclaw High School, and because of his tremendous devotion to the educational field and his persistent efforts in supporting a new school plant, Enumclaw Senior High students now learn and study in one of the most modern schools of our area. It is for this reason that the 1963-64 annual staff has dedicated the 1964 CASCADIAN to our deserving friend and principal, Mr. Fred Gramann.

A High School Principal

Foreword

In 1895 Enumclaw was a pioneer community with little need for an extensive educational system. However, as the passing decades resulted in the progressive growth of Enumclaw, there was also a need for further developing school facilities. The recently completed Senior High School is a testimony of our community's ultimate effort in meeting this need by providing for the highest possible degree of education for students today.

Throughout the 1964 CASCADIAN an attempt is made to show the tremendous progress that has resulted in all phases of education since Enumclaw was founded, and also to relate the combined effort of students and administration to make the year 1963-64 most memorable.

Promoted Leadership

Just as many physical aspects of our school have changed and progressed over the years, the role of the students in the school has also expanded. Presently, three governing bodies give students an opportunity to participate in the leadership of their school. The executive committee for 1963-64 was comprised of Robin Abramson, A.S.B. president; Bob Gramann, vice-president; Sandra Cerne, secretary; and Nancy Pugh, treasurer. As president, Robin officiated over the Board of Control, which operates for the purpose of organizing student activities, as well as setting up school policies for students. A.S.B. vice-president, Bob Gramann, acted as judge for the Student Court, which gave members a chance to try students for minor traffic violations and some acts of vandalism or misconduct at school. The total outcome of this program to provide students with a part in their school government was a better understanding between students and administration, as well as a united effort of the two to better our school for the present and the future.

Ice-skating in Holland

From the land of wooden shoes and windmills came Simone Oomens, Enumclaw's first foreign exchange student. Besides getting used to our type of food and "strange" method of fast dancing, Simone also became involved in various clubs and organizations, such as the Foreign Language Club, and found football and skiing quite different from Holland's sports of hockey and ice-skating.

Always willing to tell of her native country and customs, Simone helped us to understand what Holland is really like. At the Foreign Language Club dinner, "Dutch Holidays," she introduced us to several of her family's favorite dishes. In these ways she served as an impetus for us to seek more knowledge of foreign nations and the people around us.

Although her year with us was much too short, the memories of the wonderful times we all had with her will remain with us for the rest of our lives.

Academics and Student Life

When Enumclaw was first settled, reading, writing, arithmetic, and teachers dominated the activities of the school children from the primary grades through the high school. However, as the decades of the 20th century pass; the role of the student has steadily expanded.

Today's student at EHS has the opportunity to participate in almost unlimited number of activities, both academic and extracurricular. At EHS more than 50 subjects are taught, including a boys' home economics class, a small motors shop, a debate class, and a carpentry class that built a complete $20,000 house. Outside of the classroom, league and intramural sports competition, clubs and organizations, and other school sponsored activities make school an ever more important phase of the student's life.

On the following pages an attempt is made to portray the modern student, contrasting greatly to students in the old picture of 1910, and their activities both in the classroom and out.

Avid Students Set Fast Academic Pace

Once again E.H.S. classrooms were filled with busy students willing to learn and progressing in knowledge. For those aiming towards high school graduation only, and for those planning to further their education by going on to college, a wide range of courses is offered.

English at each level is required to develop communicative skills and an appreciation of the communicative arts. Four foreign languages are offered (French, Spanish, German, and Latin) with the main objectives of learning to speak read, write, and understand the language and of gaining knowledge of the people and customs of the land.

Among the social science courses offered are Humanities, in which the class studies "all the significant actions of the Western man"; and World Problems, which enables each student to better understand today's problems of the world. Also offered are World history, United States history, and Washington history.

Pondering over their discussion of the Bible's Book of Job are these "Knights of the Round Table," senior Humanities students. For the first year, the round table is used to promote greater participation from each person in the class.

And Without Books

Favorite Break Came

With 11:45 Bell

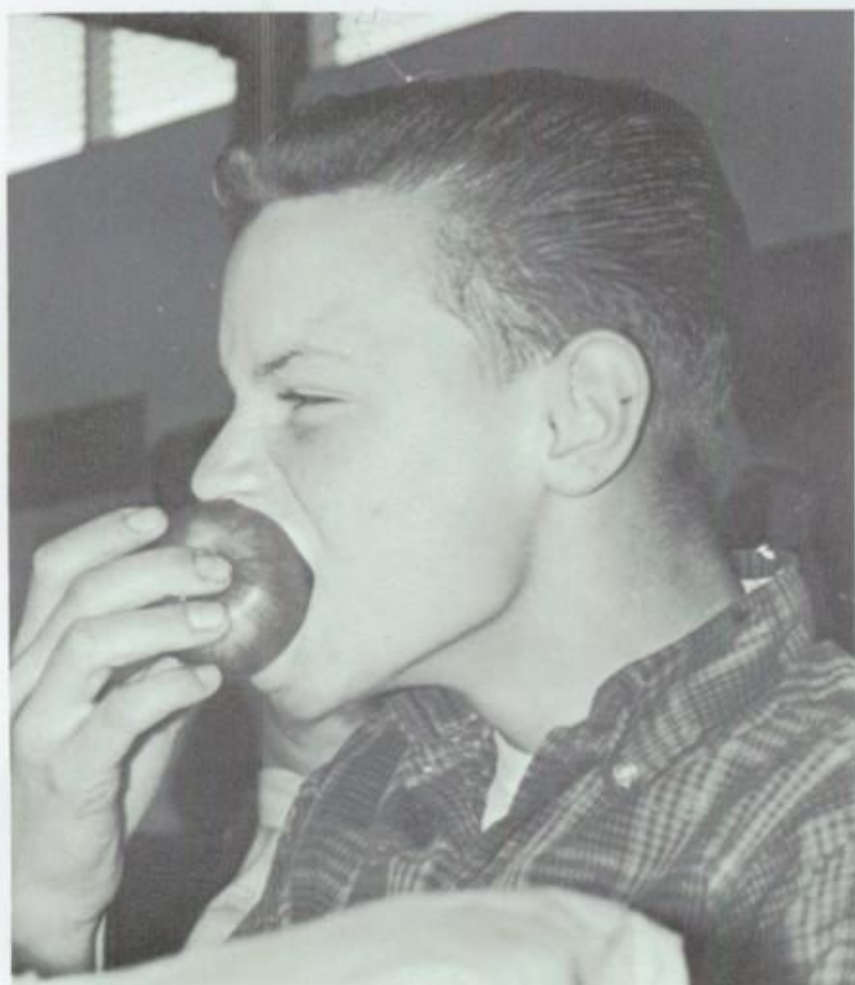

The E.H.S. Student Life Calendar was crowded with special events and extra-curricular activities from the start of school in September until graduation in June. From football games to basketball games, and from after game dances to formal dances, our free time was full of fun and frolic. Many after school hours were also occupied with club activities and part time jobs.

This year, a combined lunch and activity period (a full hour) extended free time during the noon hour. Pep assemblies, noon movies, and intramural sport leagues were among the many activities during our "favorite break." The noon hour was also a time for spending money. Many purchases were made every day from the snack bar, vending machines, the student store, and the various candy, cake, doughnut, caramelized apples, and popcorn ball sales by clubs.

With September came the need for school supplies and the student store proved valuable for supplying us with our academic necessities. Sometimes even precious lunch money, meant for hamburgers and shakes, had to be forfeited for paper and pencils!

Pat Johnson is seen finishing his lunch with much gusto! Apples (available from a vending machine) were the only exception to "no eating except in the cafeteria."

Appetite or impatience? Even though the lunch period was an hour long, Gary Erwin and Jerry Fontana anxiously await to have their trays filled.

Will it explode?!! Intent on his work, Mike Schonbachler conducts one of the many experiments performed in advanced chemistry—where the students learn by doing.

Geniuses at Work . . .

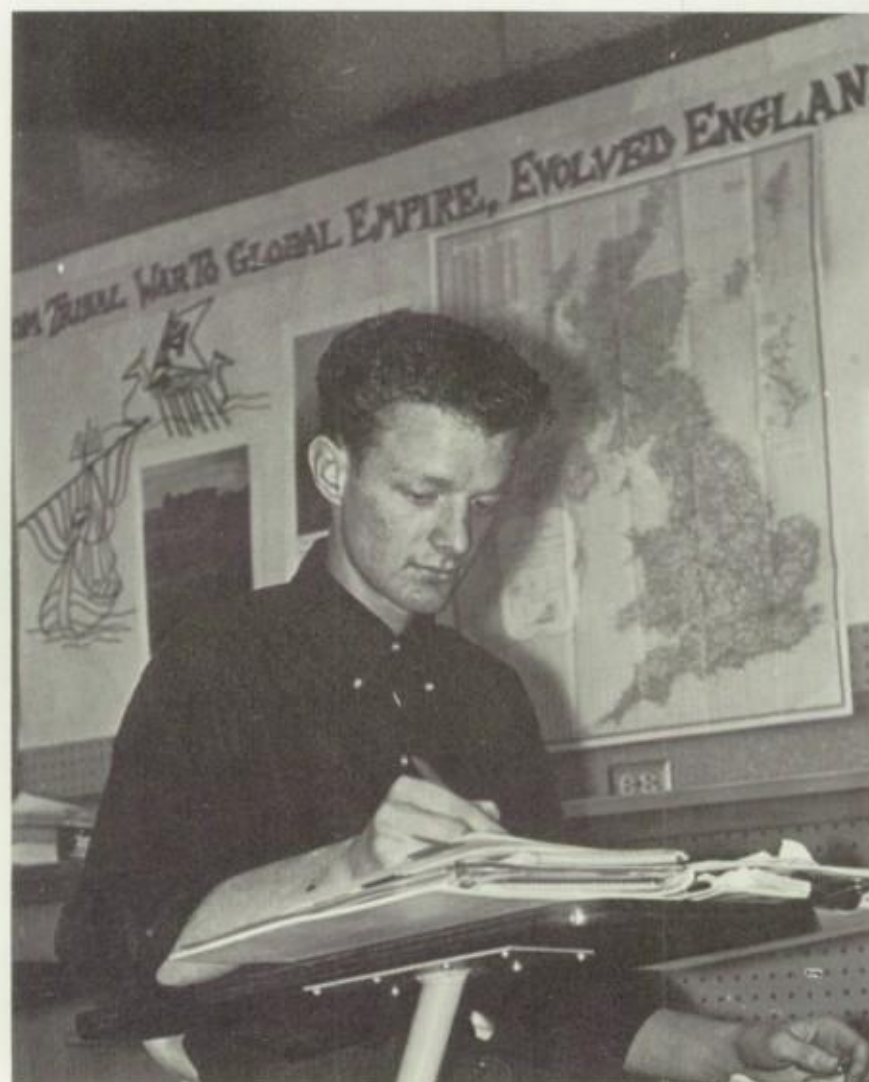

Studies Challenge The College-bound

Advanced science classes, modern mathematics and an Honors program in English provided a top-level challenge to those EHS students who had the desire to work for knowledge gained.

Enumclaw's advanced science classes offered a penetrating view of the most modern concepts in biology, chemistry and physics, and also in earth science, a course offered for the first time this year. Two English Honors courses, a step up from the traditional college prep classes, were organized second semester for seniors and challenged alert students to "think" and gave them the opportunity to study literature in an accelerated manner and to approach composition at a more mature level.

For the first time in 1963-64 schools of all levels used the modern mathematics program and in the senior high top students in math classes from trigonometry to algebra had an unlimited opportunity for achievement as they benefited from the most up-to-date teaching methods.

A 1962 Enumclaw graduate, Ernie Richardson, inspired many students by returning for a semester to further prepare for college.

and at Play

All Work and No Play Was Not the EHS Way!

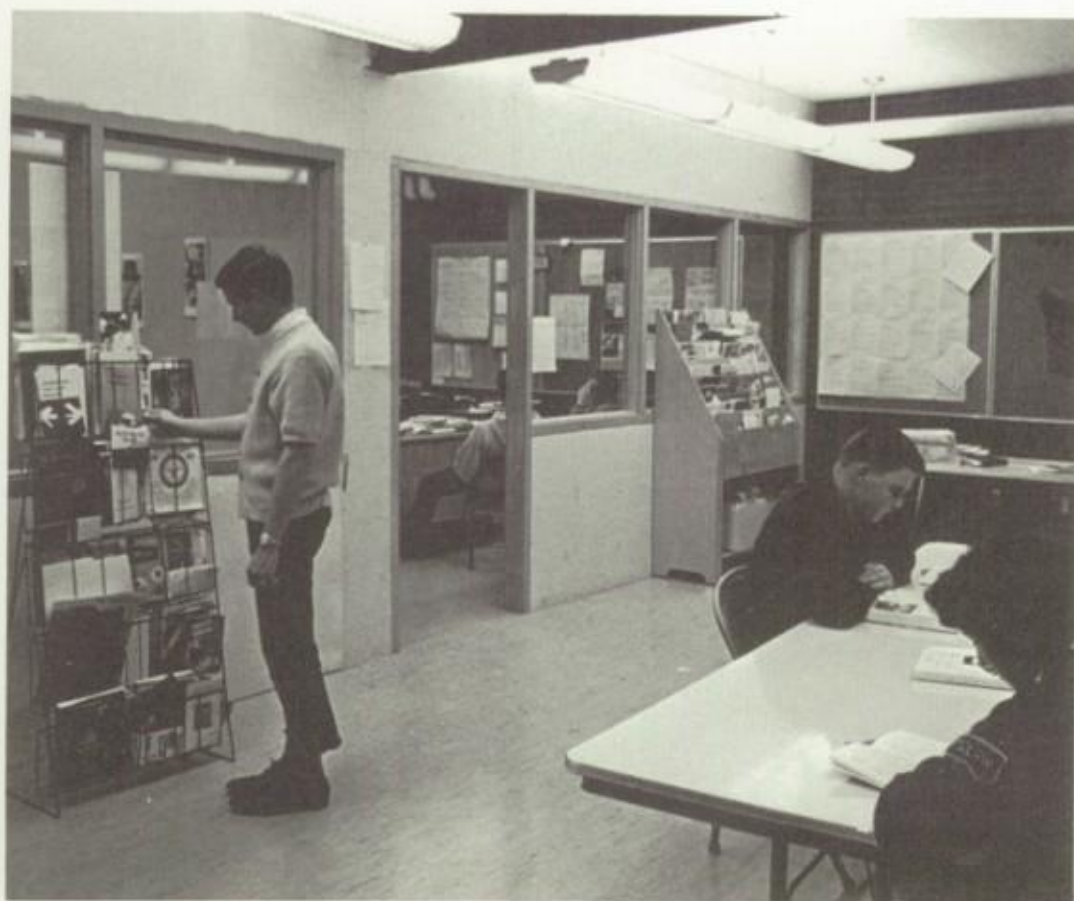

Many extracurricular activities offered students a chance to get away from their studies. One of the most popular of these was sport activities, in which class competition added to the excitement. Volleyball was played in the student court when weather permitted; otherwise it was played in the gym. Friends, clubs, or classes organized their teams and league tournaments were held. A first for EHS this year was a powder-puff football game. It was played in the rain and mud of the practice field and the final outcome was the Junior girls over the Senior girls, 7-0. Boys who did not turn out for basketball made up teams which played during the noon hour. The games, which were held in the gym, were not only of interest to the participants, but offered entertainment for other members of the student body as well.

Powder-puff Cheerleaders? Keith Skore, Paul Mihelich, and Allen Greschok led the Seniors in team yells during EHS's first Powder-puff Bowl football game.

Who's winning? When weather permitted, both boys and girls enjoyed volleyball competition in the student court during the noon hour.

This year students waiting to see counselors could keep themselves occupied with studies or by reading vocational literature and college bulletins displayed in the adjacent waiting room.

Learning . . .

New Additions Make Learning a Pleasure

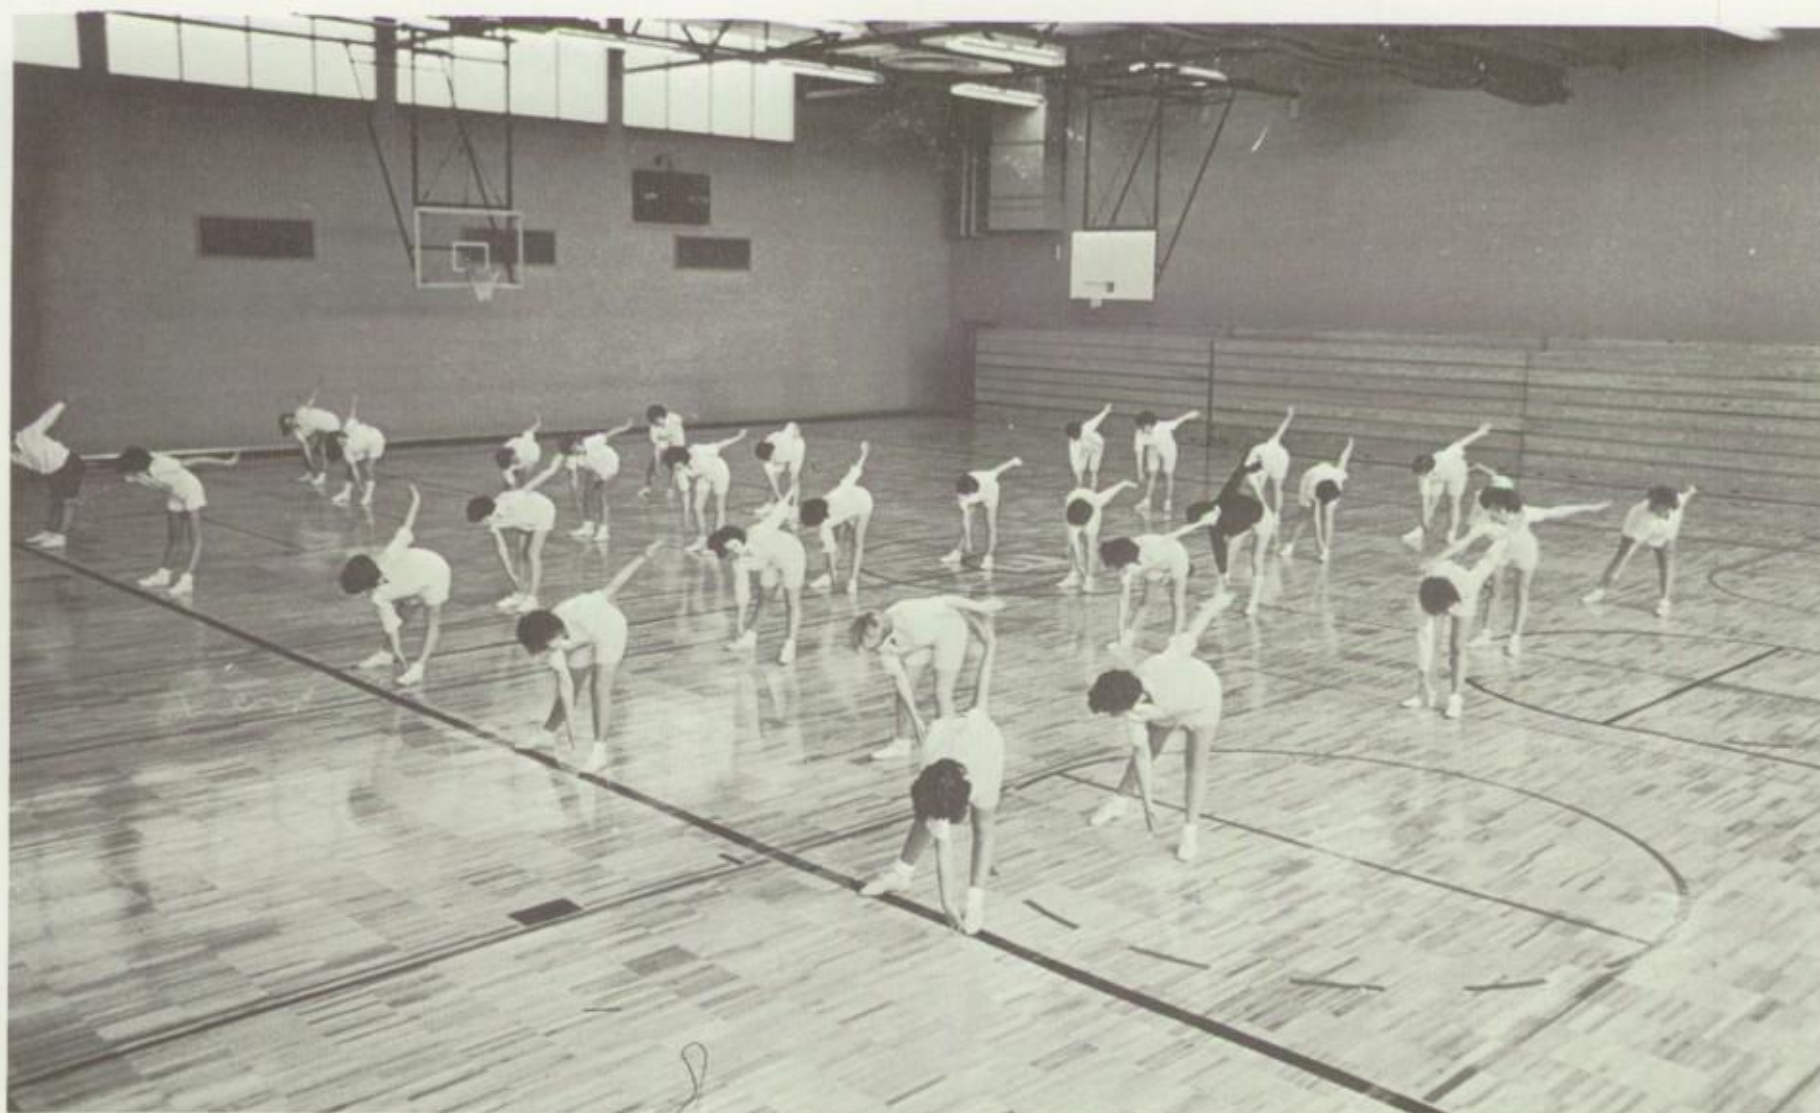

The improved facilities and resulting new procedures have aided Enumclaw's academic program this year. New additions include a five classroom wing with a fully equipped language lab and a connecting music section with chorus room, bandroom, and a "Little Theater."

Last year's Spanish room received a "face-lifting" and is now a convenient counselors' room with two private offices and student waiting room. The "400" building sports a brand new art room designed by Mr. Waldron, district art director. Also new are the humanities classroom and small engines room. E.H.S. students were proud as basketball season opened on the gleaming floor of the new and spacious gym, dedicated as the "Chuck Smith Gymnasium."

This year, for the first time, Enumclaw Senior High School is a complete school.

Hup to, girls! Sophomores conduct class in Enumclaw's new gym dedicated in December. Besides boys' and girls' physical education classes, the gym was used for basketball, pep assemblies, wrestling, national as-semblies, and extra-curricular activities, making it our biggest and one of our most important new facilities.

and Living

Students Keep Pace with Changing Fads and Fashions

Fads and fashions change from year to year and this year was no exception. Popular among girls were skirts with matching suspenders and bulky mohair sweaters. The latest trend in footwear ranged from stacked heels to the extremely different knee-high boots. Boys shoes also showed a new and popular trend towards a pointed toe and some styles featured higher heels.

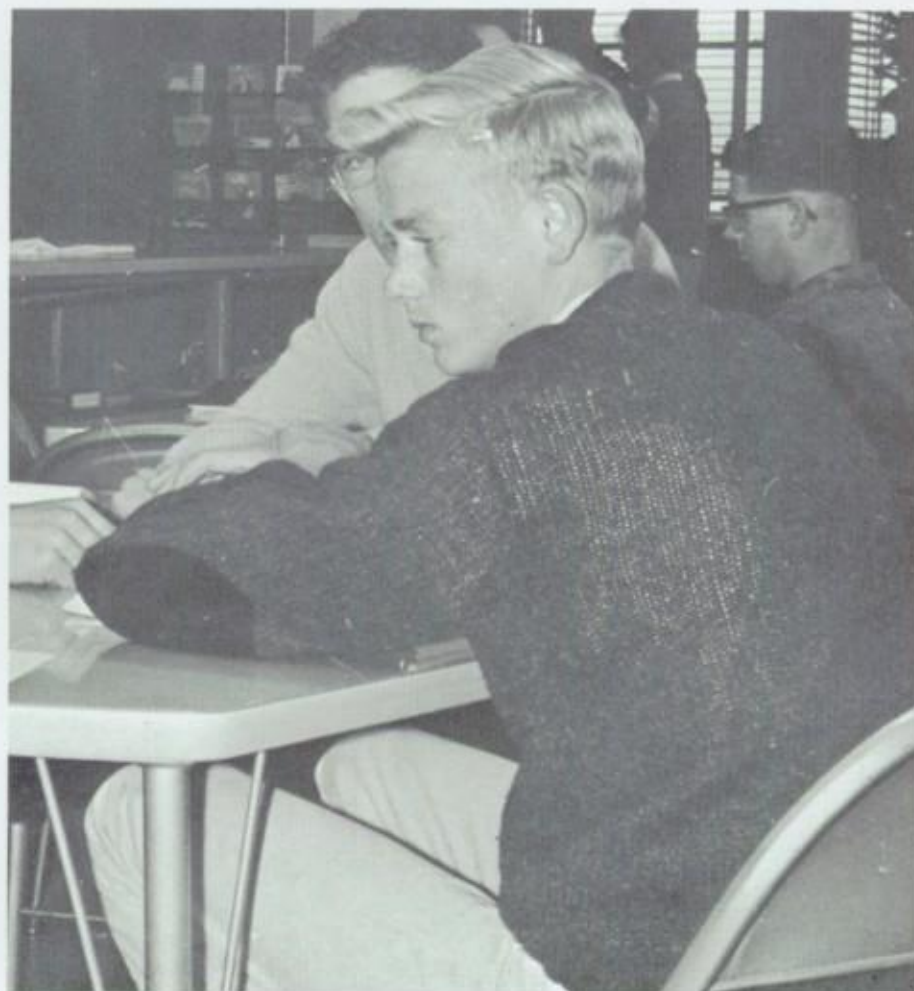

Popular with both girls and boys were "elbow patches." They could be seen on coats, sweaters, shirts, and blouses. Another fad that was both stylish and practical for boys and girls was turtleneck T shirts or dickies. These were warm during winter weather when worn under sweaters, and shirts or blouses.

Maureen Helley and Sherry Trumbull are both wearing styles that were popular this year. Maureen favors a skirt with matching suspenders, while Sherry keeps warm in her mohair sweater.

"Elbow patches" which at one time may have been considered a necessity are now a popular fad. Gary Bonnema is shown wearing a sweater that features this eye-catching novelty.

Wearing heavy helmets with dark glass tinting to protect them from the blinding flash metal shop students learn the art of welding.

Campus Courses

Enumclaw's Industrial Arts program offered the senior high boys a solid background in the language and tools of various industries.

Mechanical drawing begins with the use of draftman's tools and advances through drawing symbols and details of a house, scales and drawings of the machinist, and detail and assembly drawings of simple machines.

Progression through metal shops 1 to 4 is from simple materials and procedures and shop safety on to more advanced crafts with iron, copper, tin, brass, and plastics, and also metal lathes and welding.

Boys in woodshop learned use of power tools to produce projects requiring a high degree of skill and craftsmanship. Projects put on display at the end of first semester included the following: stereo cabinet, Mike Krone; picnic table, Larry Johnson; and coffee table, Jack Hope.

Shop Boys Learn Tricks of the Trades

Woodshop students undertook, for the first time, the awesome job of building a house complete with a two-car garage. Construction on the 1597 square foot home was done by fourteen boys under the direction of Mr. John Collins. Later in the year, the interior decorating was planned by Mrs. Hildebrand's home ec. classes. The project was financed by money borrowed from the Enumclaw First National Bank. Any profit will be returned to next year's Hornet Construction Fund.

and Commotions

Energetic Students

Welcomed Activities

After a long day of school and the worries that accompany it, many students found time to focus their interests and energy toward after school activities. The most popular of these included league games and after-game dances. From football and basketball to track meets and tennis matches, sport activities attracted both participants and spectators. "Rooters!" buses transported students and cheerleaders to and from away games. During the first half of the sports season, after-game dances that featured live bands were held after home games. The dances were held in the cafetorium and were sponsored by classes and clubs. Due to the expense of the bands and the lack of support by students, the live bands were replaced by records. Throughout the year, extracurricular activities busied energetic students.

At the beginning of the sports season, after-game dances that featured live band were a favorite way of enjoying a victory or "stomping" out the bad feelings over a loss.

"We got a touchdown!" From the look on these faces the Hornets must have gone all the way for a touchdown. Rooters were not always this happy, of course, but they offered loyal support to the team throughout the year.

At School Typewriters, Toasters Challenged Girls

Since not all students plan to enter college, E.H.S. offers training to prepare young men and women for entering into varied fields of business, as well as for home ownership.

In preparation for office work, advanced typing girls completed a semester's work of special job training and learned basic use of the dictaphone. Aspiring secretaries in shorthand class progressed in transcribing and skills in a variety of business dictation. Bookkeeping students learned practices essential to personal and business record keeping.

Second semester brought an academic "extra" to E.H.S. girls. Under the direction of Mr. Hirschel, a household mechanics class taught the fundamentals of electricity and the basic repair of small appliances used in the home.

As part of the advanced typing course, Carol Olson spent three weeks learning how to use the dictaphone. Carol is also using one of the IBM Selectric typewriters, new to E.H.S. this year.

and After School

Spring Teas Honored Girls and Their Mothers

Spring, with its showers and sunshine, was a busy time for EHS students. On April 15, the sophomore girls honored the junior girls and their mothers with a tea entitled "Daffodil Parade." The program included a fashion show in which girls modeled the clothes they had made. The Senior Tea, with decorations, a fashion show and refreshments was presented by the junior girls in May. The tea was highlighted by the announcement of the Girl of the Year.

Junior girls and their mothers enjoyed being treated to refreshments at an April afternoon tea given by the sophomore girls.

Dramatics Accented Spring

In April a cast of more than twenty sophomores, juniors, and seniors presented "The Mouse That Roared." Heading the all-school cast were Char Meyers and John Rieck. Pam Watson and Alice Lennon were the student directors. Due to the absence of Char during one performance, Pam Watson took over on a few hours notice. In May three one-act were presented in the Little Theater, with profit going for student lounge furniture. Mr. Garrison was the faculty director for productions.

Left: "Show them to the antechamber!" With this, Gloriana (Pam Watson) dismisses the Page (Virginia Umek) and Count Mountjoy (Joe Shuck). Seated are the Ladies-in-Waiting, Linda Thiele and Carol Tost.

Taking part in the production of "The Mouse That Roared" were, left to right: D. Vernerele, W. Lokovsek, K. Lueck, D. Reed, J. Stevenson, C. Varney, P. Johnson, M. Brendel, D. Smith, J. Rieck,

S. Forler, P. Watson, P. Fallen, J. McComb, J. Shuck, M. Capponi, N. Lee, R. Draghi, C. Misner, J. Grafton, E. VanWeiringen, C. Tost, L. Flothe, J. Rosen, S. Christensen, and V. Umek.

Sharing honors as Boy and Girl of the Year are Jack Hulsey and Marilyn Rossman, who were selected as being outstanding on the basis of school activities, leadership, and personality.

Laurels to Students of High

Margaret Pendlebury, chosen as a semi-finalist by the American Field Service, is eligible to go as an exchange student to a European country. Margaret was selected from over 1000 nationwide applicants on the basis of adaptability, character, academic standings, and leadership.

Academic Achievement

Kathy Siskar, a junior, won a four week summer trip to New York in the United Nations Pilgrimage program sponsored by the Mt. Peak Rebekah Lodge No. 137. Kathy received the top rating in the contest after being judged on a written exam, scholastic standings, and school activities.

Three seniors received the top school scores in the annual Mathematics Contest, handled in Washington by the U. W. Mathematics Department. SEATED: Doug Verschaeve, third; Robin Abramson, first; and Keith Skore, second.

Varied Tributes . . .

With spring came many tributes. As early as March scholarships were being designated. Nearly 25 scholarships were distributed by Commencement.

Individuals and groups were honored alike. April showed Pam Watson accepting the title of King County Dairy Princess. A tribute to our chorus was their being chosen one of nine high school and college choirs from Washington, Oregon, and Idaho to participate in the Portland Rose Festival.

On Class Day 30 plaques were presented to seniors on the basis of school activities. "B" or better students were honored at a luncheon at Harold's Cafe, and the Top Ten scholars of approximately 160 graduating students were given special recognition at Graduation.

Are Paid

"Sayonara" to Seniors

On Saturday evening, April 18, the Junior Class presented the Junior Prom and Banquet, featuring the theme "Sayonara" (farewell) in honor of the Seniors. Oriental decorations were used at both the banquet and dance. Spending many hours to plan the banquet were co-chairmen Penny Ross and Sandy Cable, while Connie Varney worked diligently as general chairman of the Prom. The reading of the Senior Class Prophecy and a realistic tea house where fortune cookies were served, added to the memories of the evening.

Entering the Junior Prom are Connie Varney, Keith Skore, and Vicki Keyes. The evening proved to be exciting, as well as memorable, for all who attended.

Seated in the Tea House at the Junior Prom, waiting to be served fortune cookies and punch are Carolyn Nickels, Greg Wagner, Howie Plass, and Cheryl Kranz.

Fathers Honored at Banquet

Being presented the Girls' Club skit award are Patty Garin and Judy Jameyson, chairman of the winning senior skit, "Queen for a Day."

Drama, Discussing . . .

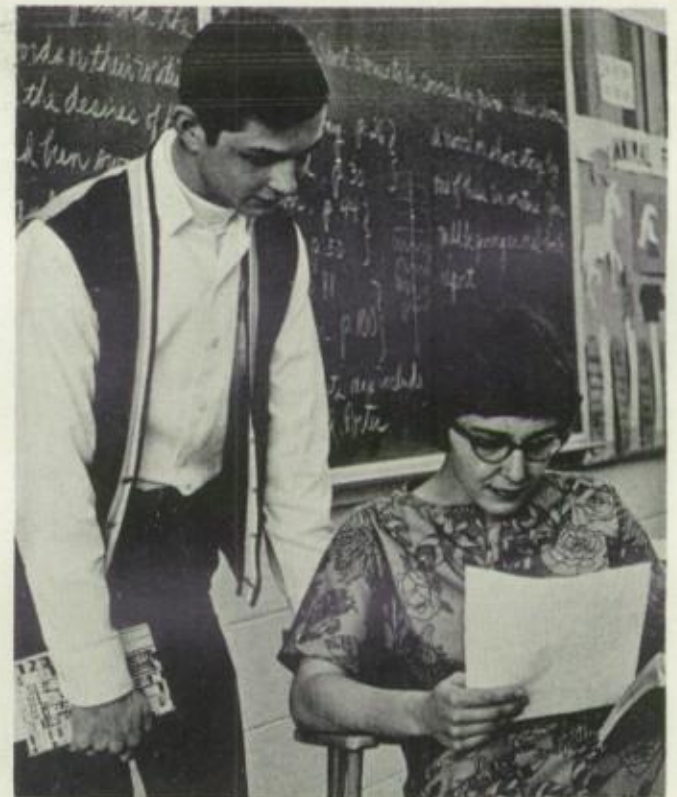

MacBeth Cast: FRONT: Sandi Zumek, Margaret Pendlebury, and Carolyn Nickels. CENTER: John Rogers, Jack Hulsey, Greg Wagner, Jam Watson, Millard Deusen, Bill Jensen, and Joe Shuck. BACK: Robin Abramson.

The oral phase of our academic program was stressed through debate's year 'round program and dramatic presentations in the spring. One such presentation was the dramatic reading of MacBeth by Miss Stark's and Miss J. Olson's three C.P. English classes. The four performances commemorated Shakespeare's 400th birthday anniversary.

Debaters worked hard to keep informed on this year's question concerning Medicare. In league competition the squad won 13 and lost 9. On Feb. 12 Enumclaw hosted the league Round Robin in which all PSL schools participated. Finalists at the UPS Speech Tournament in April were Kathy Siskar, Joe Shuck, and Gary Morgan. The debaters were also busy with many projects including a model Security Council, where students represented the various countries.

All In A Day

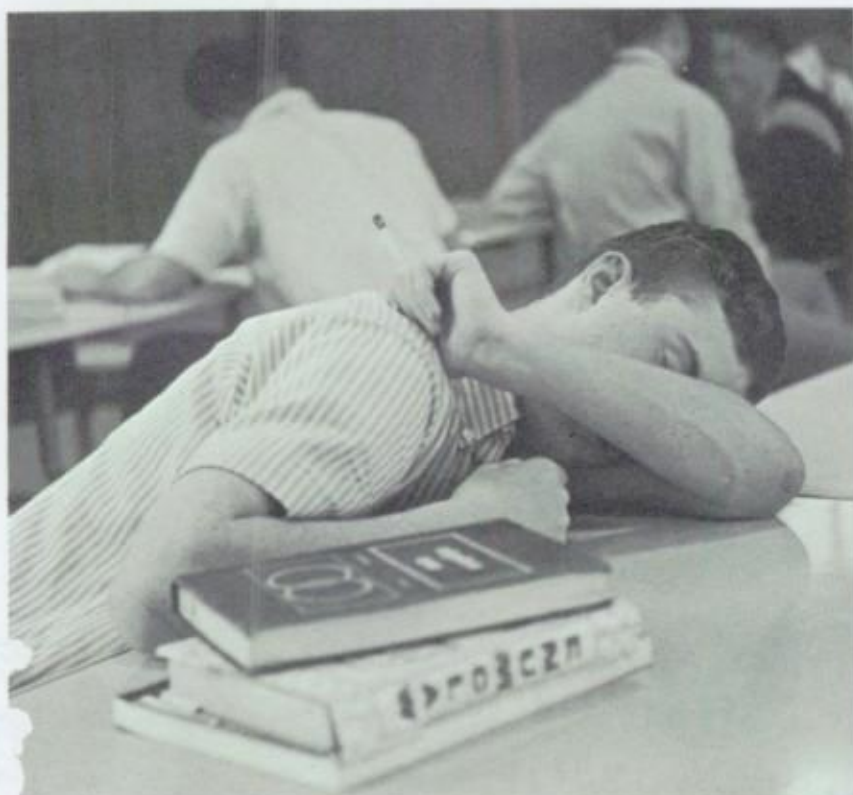

Communication And Companionship Rate Highest Priority

One "extracurricular activity" in which all students were able to participate was talking. Before school, during the noon hour, and between classes, the "talkers" scattered themselves throughout the entire campus. Topics for discussion varied from world news to the latest campus gossip. Just a couple of these groups were caught by the camera's eye as they fervently exercised their lungs. The girls pictured, ABOVE,

Study hall must be just too much for Greg Milnel. A sight such as this was not too uncommon near the end of the day.

To the exasperation of teachers, most students favored this form of "note-taking".

Class of '64 Awaits Future

The Class of 1964 has ended a successful year . . . our last year! We can be proud of this memorable year, and its success is due largely to the leadership of our officers and advisors. To Jack, Greg, Paul, Judy and to Mr. Radliff, Mrs. Hambleton, and Mr. Kapp we give our respect and our thanks.

Our class has come a long way in the few years it has been in high school. We have developed a sense of responsibility and enthusiasm for our school and its functions, and we were ready for the leadership that being Seniors thrust upon us. With maturity we have become better citizens of our town and have developed a growing interest in its welfare. We have had a good preparation for the world ahead, whether it be college, marriage or work.

This being our last year each of us has felt a little closer to our friends and our projects. At last it was someone from our class who was ASB president, members of our class were the Homecoming Royalty, it was our Senior Ball, our class presented the Senior Play, it was our class the juniors honored with a dinner, and, finally, we were the ones who marched slowly up the aisle on Commencement night.

All of this seemed to happen so suddenly . . . and now it is over and we must look to the future and remember the past.

Our beautifully landscaped student quadrangle, wonderful fall weather and a longer lunch hour made a very good combination for noon-time companionship; Warren Lokovsek, Rick Darby, Skip Craig, Duane Cameron, and Terry Stergion are typical of the senior boys who got together noons for a man to man talk.

Members of the charming Homecoming Royal Court are Judy Wilson, Howie Plass, Sandra Cerne, Joe Howells, Bill Jensen, Nancy Pugh, Jack Kirk, and Lila Thiele.

And A Royal Court Reigned Over Festivities

Smiles were brought to many faces on the afternoon of October 11, when Warren Lokovsek and Vicki Dyer were chosen as the 1963 Homecoming King and Queen. The members of the Royal Court included Princesses Nancy Pugh, Sandra Cerne, Judy Wilson, and Lila Thiele, and Princes Bill Jensen, Howard Plass, Jackie Kirk, and Joe Howells. At the afternoon assembly the Classes of 1938 and 1963 were honored and two speeches were given, one by Superintendent Charles Smith, and another by Mrs. Bert Burman, Class of 1938's president. The memorable Homecoming celebration was ended with a formal dance, "Harvest Moon," that evening at the High School cafetorium.

Smiling after a job well done are Master and Mistress of Ceremonies for Homecoming, Joe Shuck and Patty Garin.

With a kiss, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Dyer congratulate their radiant daughter, Queen Vicki.

"... And to All a Goodnights"

The Senior Ball is always one of the most treasured memories of high school life. It is a time when seniors realize that this is the last dance they will put on as a class and also that in no time they will be graduating. This year's dance, "... And to All a Goodnight" was no exception. The evening of December 14 began with the music of the Len Brock Combo and progressed to the thrilling moment when Marilyn Rossman was crowned queen. Her princesses were Carolyn Nickels, Margaret Pendlebury, Virginia Porter, and Sandra Zumek. Marilyn Rossman and Chuck Hansen, acting as chairmen, and a crew of seniors transformed the cafeteria into a red and silver world filled with Christmas spirit. Each time that familiar carol is read, the thoughts of the Class of '64 will wander back to their own "... And to All a Goodnight."

Awaiting the announcement of the queen are the candidates and their escorts. Pictured are Greg Wagner, Virginia Porter, Mike Schonbachler, Margaret Pendlebury, Mel Wik, Carolyn Nickels, Chuck Hansen, chairman, Denny Richardson, Marilyn Rossman, Jack Hulsey, and Sandi Zumek.

Scholarship, participation, and service has been the motto of these twenty seniors chosen as Girls and Boys of the Month. Throughout their high school years they have done well scholastically, have been active members of organizations, and have served their school in many ways. They are a group that our school can be proud of, and because of the enthusiasm they have shown in high school, we are confident that they will become outstanding citizens in the community.

Girls of the Month were first nominated by the Girls' Club Cabinet. The list was then referred to a

The Boys' Club Cabinet also nominated a group of boys which they felt were deserving of the honor. The final selections were made by the two advisers, Mr. Ben Dacus and Mr. John Gillis, and were announced at the monthly Boys' Club meeting. No boy of the month was selected for June.

Prosperous Year for Juniors Through Study and Activities

This year's Junior class began a very busy and eventful year in high gear by achieving second place in the A.S.B. ticket sales, coming in just behind the seniors. Setting the pace for the juniors in this activated year were the class officers who initiated many money-making projects, including a paper drive, several after-school dances and the raffling of a telephone with the bill paid (except long distance) for six months.

Juniors made an outstanding contribution to their school in sports. Fifteen boys from the Junior class made a great contribution to the varsity football squad, and five other junior boys were an effective addition to the Hornet basketball team. Five of the eight girls on the yell staff were juniors. In other sports many juniors participated enthusiastically in cross-country, tennis, track, skiing, and golf.

One of the year's major social activities was the Senior Tea and Fashion Show put on by the Junior girls, and the Junior Prom and Banquet engrossed the junior committee chairman until the results were nothing less than perfect. Other members of the class participated in many school activities, with some of them holding positions as club presidents and chairmen of special events.

In the spring the traditional Junior Paper recorded the history of the Junior class since kindergarten days with emphasis on senior high achievements.

Class rings are an important part of the high school years. Ron Miller, Jill Johnson, and Lee Ann Krone seem satisfied with the displays at Miller's Jewelry.

After helping to collect nearly six tons of paper, Lee Ann Krone and Ann McKinnon take a well deserved rest and read the funnies. The Junior Class collected close to 65 dollars on the drive.

Jan Christiansen and Bruce Olson, editors of the Junior Paper, pirate ideas from last year's EL WATUSI, as they plan 1964's memorable edition.

Over 100 enthusiastic juniors bought shares in the junior truck for a nickel or a dime. Though the sale of the shares was sufficient to buy the truck, the lack of a muffler and the money to purchase one left the juniors' pride and joy at home in a garage much of the time.

Class Advisors

With June 1966 as their goal, the Sophomores continued on their journey upward. They started out on a fast pace by fielding a strong football team and placed 21 students on the fall Honor Roll. With the capable help of their faculty advisors and the dynamic leadership of their officers the class had an outstanding year of sports, fun, work, and activities.

Although the school work was tough the sophomores found time to participate in many activities. For the sophomores, cheerleaders were chosen. They went to all the home games promoting a spirit that had been absent from sophomore games in the past. Another major sophomore activity was the Sophomore Hop which was held February 1. It was acclaimed as the "fun dance" of the year.

Over the course of the year, the sophomores showed a spirit of pride in Enumclaw High School. They worked hard for the benefit of their class, and also made a significant contribution to their school.

The choosing of the theme "An Epic of Progress" was an excellent start for the 1964 CASCADIAN. The theme fitted in well with the plans of a hard cover and a larger annual with more pages.

With a terrific beginning to the annual, we next added the best staff, headed by Mr. Campbell, adviser; Carolyn Nickels, editor; and Judy Petchnick, associate editor. The two editors broke in new members of the class and met deadlines on time, which took many hours of hard work. The business manager, Jeanette Miller, spent her time promoting advertising and sales, sending out bills, and collecting money, while Kaye Gilbertson, senior editor, spent a year of hard work on the large senior section. Although there appeared various problems throughout the year, this capable staff always found a solution.

Our annual would have never been complete without the help of the photographers, Darrel Zgonc, Chuck Hansen, and Jim Manowski, and their adviser, Mr. Gorg. The annual staff would like to thank them for wonderful help.

After all of the activities were covered and all progresses accounted for, the finishing touches were added to the CASCADIAN to complete a book of memories for the year, 1964.

Completion of the new addition to the senior high provided a larger room with better facilities for both the journalism and annual classes. Especially appreciating the new room were co-editors Hallie McIntosh and Jim Campbell who "bossed" the HORNET members. ACCENT, the EHS magazine, was edited by John Kruegar. It accented student activities and achievements, mostly literary work.

Keeping the HORNET and ACCENT in the black financially were Judy Jameyson, business manager, and Bruce Kalin, advertising editor. Gail Callaway, head typist, typed and retyped stories to make them perfect. Randal Tron, layout specialist, accurately pasted up pictures and stories in both publications. Joe Shuck, a first year Journalist, doubled as exchange editor and art editor.

Both the HORNET and ACCENT were offset printed publications and were student produced from assignment to final paste up. The HORNET published 13 eight page editions and three 16 page ACCENTS were produced.

First year journalists busily writing their quota of copy are: FIRST TABLE: Bruce Olson, Donna Berilla (typist) and Terry Romedo. SECOND TABLE: Jan Christiansen, Phillis Hansen, and Carolyn Omana (typist).

The officers whose outstanding leadership made this year's Foreign Language Club program successful were: Warren Lokovsek, president; Miss Olson, adviser; Pat Clem, vice-president; Napua Anderson, secretary; and Marion Whitley, treasurer.

Language Club Goal Is Exchange Student

The main objectives of the Foreign Language Club during the year were to stimulate interest in foreign languages, countries, and people and to raise enough money to bring another foreign student to Enumclaw. The club consisted of four chapters—French, German, Latin, and Spanish.

The first activity of the year was the Foreign Dinner (pictured below). In December a Christmas party was held, and each language chapter provided a dessert symbolic of their language and presented a skit. In February, about twenty members attended the Vienna Boys' Choir at the Opera House in Seattle. The club also sponsored an after-game dance in February. Other activities planned were the showing of a foreign movie and a swimming party in the spring.

Inspired by Simone Oomens, our foreign exchange student from the Netherlands, the Foreign Language Club chose "Dutch Holidays" as the theme for their dinner. The dinner was held in the cafetorium on November 3, and over $500 was cleared. The success of the banquet assured another exchange student for EHS in the coming school year.

Along with being the advisor for Art Club Miss Neth also had a busy schedule of five art classes. Here she works with Carolyn Nichols, Randall Tron, and Ray Colville.

Art Club Goal:

In working toward the Art Club goal, the stimulation and encouragement of a love of beauty in the school and the community, members of the organization planned and carried out many outstanding projects during the 1963-64 school year. Dozens of exhibits, bulletin boards and posters for many occasions brought recognition to the school and to Art Club members.

Silkscreening was one of the most frequent Art Club projects. Homecoming programs, concert programs and the Senior play programs had outstanding covers silkscreened by art students. Nearly a thousand elaborate and beautiful Christmas cards were silkscreened and brought compliments to the group as well as profits for Art Club treasury. Another profitable project was the selling of carameled apples at Halloween.

Under the direction of Miss Neth this year ceramics was introduced into the Art Department and provided impressive projects for Art Club members, Miss Neth also recorded the hours of work put in Art Club members, and students who earned the most work points were taken to see "Sounds of Music" at the Opera House in Seattle.

Art Club can be proud that throughout the year it has made a significant contribution to the activities and a school life of Enumclaw High School. It set an example and a goal for the organization to achieve in years to come.

"To Stimulate Beauty In School-Community"

Two of the efficient officers this year were President Dick Helms and Treasurer Vickie Dyer.

Discussing this year's accomplishments are Historian Laurie Leinonen and Secretary Marilyn Eddy.

Our Band Was Classy In Snappy New Uniforms

With Mr. Walden directing, the Enumclaw High School band had a very eventful year. Although there were fewer members than in previous years, the quality of music produced was of the best. By presenting fine concert programs, the band rendered immeasurable service to the school.

Pep Assemblies, football, and basketball games would not have been the same without the fine music of the band, which practiced many hours to become familiar with school songs. To earn money to pay for various expenditures, band members were in charge of concessions at football games, sold candy, and made and sold popcorn at basketball games.

In competition, the band also rated well. The various contests which the band attended included the Solo and Ensemble Contest and the P.S.L. Band Contest. Margaret Pendlebury was also selected to participate in the All State Band in February.

As in years before, the band proved to be an integral part of our curriculum, and contributed to the enrichment of musical life of students and adults alike.

EHS Vocalists Were Melodious and Many

To provide musical culture for Enumclaw High School students was the goal of the senior high chorus. Under the direction of Mr. Harold Estby, this outstanding group produced excellent listening music at the fall, Christmas, and spring concerts. In addition to performing for audiences, the chorus also entered competition with other high schools at several chorus concerts.

However, like any other organization, the chorus required funds to meet such needs as additional choir robes for new members. These needs were met by sponsoring a candy sale

As a tribute to their special abilities in music, Dennis Misner and Ed Pettersen were selected to participate in the All-State Chorus in Yakima, bringing recognition not only to themselves, but also to the entire E.H.S. music department.

In general, 1963-64 was a very successful year for the chorus, and their achievements and their service of providing music for many occasions was greatly appreciated by the school and by the community.

FFA Taught

The 1963-64 officers for FFA each had a job with responsibility and they all filled it well. SEATED: Frank Van Hoof, sentinel; George Mallery, vice president; Jim Raybon, president; Terry Anderson, secretary; Bob Suhooversnik, reporter; and Steve Fant, treasurer. STANDING are the two FFA sweethearts, Connie Varney, a junior, and Vicki Dyer, a senior.

These six boys won second place in the King County parliamentary procedure contest in March. Members of the team are Mickey Capponi, Bob Suhooversnik, Fred Van Hoof, Steve Fant, Jim Suhooversnik, and Jerry Teeter.

Business of Farming

To provide many agriculture projects to teach the business and operation of farms to future farmers of America was the main goal of the Enumclaw FFA Chapter. Among the many activities in which members participated were included parliamentary procedure, herdsmanship, judging, and the showing of animals.

Throughout the year the chapter gained recognition when its boys returned from various events with commendable records. At the Puyallup Fair last fall the boys showed a total of 45 animals, receiving many honors. Two third place banners were also secured at the Pacific International Exposition held in Portland. One of the achievements of which the group was extremely proud was their second place win in the King County parliamentary procedure contest held in February. In addition, the entire group earned many awards and trophies which made them one of the most active organizations in school.

Dennis Milliken was the first place winner in the Enumclaw FFA public speaking contest.

Eight handsome boys were chosen by the Girls' Club cabinet to represent their classes as candidates for the Tolo royalty. FRONT: Lee Pohlman (Sophomore Prince), Mike Schonbachler, John Rogers, and Bob Nelson. BACK: Jack Hulsey (King), Keith Semprimochnik, Bob McLaren (Junior Prince), and Ron Miller. Not present for the picture was Jim Grafton, (Junior Prince.)

As character and leadership have progressed, so have the three divisions of Girls' Club. Serving as president, Marilyn Rossman led a successful year keeping up with the events that the Girls' Club sponsored. Also possessing the qualities of leadership and character were the three vice-presidents, who served as: Pep Club president, Virginia Porter; Social Service president, Sandi Zumek; and G.A.A. president, Daneel Kuzaro.

Each month a meeting was held for the purpose of announcing the Girl-of-the-Month. The girl of the previous month made the introduction and passed on the special necklace. At this time the Boy-of-the-Month was also revealed. At three of these meetings skits were presented by the various classes. From each class two girls were chosen to act as chairman of these skits.

Joni Younkin and Leona Bevaart, general chairmen for the Girls' Club Tolo pause on their way to an after-school committee meeting. With their assistant chairmen the two girls spent many hours inspiring the success of the "Madhatters Ball."

"Madhatters Ball" was the theme chosen for the Girls' Club Tolo held on January 18. General chairmen were Joni Younkin, who worked hard and long with the other various chairman to make the tolo a success.

As all the girls worked hard, leadership and character developed in the Girls' Club to make it an outstanding organization. And the many activities kept the girls busy, while the social entertainment gave them pleasure along with work.

A special day during Tolo week was "Hat Day," which carried out the theme of "Madhatters Ball." Jack Hulsey, Virginia Porter, Marilyn Rossman, and Dennis Richardson model their ideas of a goofy hat.

Catching everyone's eye is Marion Whitley with her sweet smile and charmed poise. Marion is one of the many girls who modeled for the Junior Tea, at which the hostesses were the Senior girls.

One of the funniest skits ever put on by the Junior class was titled "The Jackie Gleason Show." Connie Varney played the part of "Crazy" and Lee Ann Krone was "Joe, the bartender." The other scenes of the play portrayed days of the pioneers.

To provide serviceable projects and functions for the social development of the girls at Enumclaw High School was the purpose of the Social Service Club.

Throughout the year projects were varied, with many different girls working on each. In October the girls were in charge of the Homecoming luncheon for the judges and candidates. In November the club had a very successful cake sale, which helped to replenish the treasury. The members of Social Service made and donated toy kits in January to the small children at Enumclaw Memorial Hospital. Valentine's Day in February inspired girls to decorate the bulletin boards in the halls. In March the Sophomore Tea was sponsored by the Social Service Club; in April, the Junior Tea; and in May, the Senior Tea, on which occasion the Girl of the Year was announced.

Through joint efforts on the part of Mrs. Hildebrand, adviser, the Social Service cabinet; and the dependability of the members, the club set a good example of social standing for the school.

Members of the 1963-64 Social Service Club were: ROW 1: P. Campbell, S. Majack, K. Gilbertson, N. Pugh, K. Miller, J. Kurfurst, V. Franz, J. Petchnick, C. Brauner, J. Tamm, L. Ingram, M. Waldock, V. Pep Club Promoted Sportsmanship and Spirit

A maroon sweater, with a gold Hornet on the front, was the well known insignia of the Pep Club. The girls wearing them were conspicuous in the rooting section at both football and basketball games, at which they increased the school spirit and overall enthusiasm of the students.

As a service group, the Pep Club promoted activities which helped to boost the student participation, as well as the Pep Club and A.S.B. treasury. With Miss Sue Olson as adviser, Pep Club girls made posters, did skits at the pep assemblies, and ushered at both football and basketball games. Several of the money-making services which they rendered included a car wash in October, the selling of popcorn, and the making and selling of sno-cones, which was made possible with a sno-cone machine that was recently purchased by Pep Club.

Throughout the busy year the entire Pep Club kept progressing toward promoting school spirit under the leadership of the officers who were: Virginia Porter, president; Jan Christiansen, secretary-treasurer; Patsy Davies, historian; and the cabinet.

Boys' Club Provided Activities and Leadership

Ben Dacus

John Gillis

Advisers

During 1963-64, for the first time, EHS boys had the leadership of a Boys' Club. The organization planned a program to provide social opportunities and special activities for all boys. The new club became a strong, effective organization in which the boys felt an interest and a pride.

Election of officers was the first activity of the year. Leaders elected were: Greg Wagner, president; Warren Lokovsek, vice president; Paul Mihelich, secretary; and Ron Miller, treasurer. The advisers were Mr. Ben Dacus and Mr. John Gillis. Activities during the year were regular meetings, activity nights in the gym, naming of Boys of the Month, a pickle sale and the car push, for which a permanent trophy was given.

As with any new club, Boys' Club had its share of problems. Experience solved most of these and it is hoped that in the future, interest in the organization will remain high and that it will become one of the strongest and most influential groups in school.

Boys' Club Officers for the year were: Greg Wagner, president; Warren Lokovsek, vice-president; Paul Mihelich, secretary; Ron Miller, treasurer.

This was the first full year of existence for a Boys' Club at EHS and the cabinet had a great responsibility. Members of the cabinet were: ROW 1: Mr. Gillis (advisor), Pat Johnson, Greg Tim, Keith Semprimoznik, Larry Williams, Mr. Dacus (advisor). ROW 2: Darrell Zgonc, Joe Shuck, Ron Miller,

The Boys' Club met once a month to discuss problems and future plans. At this January meeting President Greg Wagner and Mr. Dacus, adviser, inform the boys of a car push, a new activity initiated at EHS this year.

BELOW: A money-making project of the year was a pickle sale. Trying his sale's pitch on some prospects is John Farman. Greg Wagner seems to have already made a sale.

It's off to the races, only this time it's "car push" around the school. Louie Murkowski and his muscle bound carpushers gave it the old "college" try, but they join the defeated when Don Higgins and his group zoomed by with the winning time of 4:21.

Motion picture projectors, filmstrip projectors, opaque projectors, tape recorders, record players, and public address systems were all essential parts of education at E.H.S. this year, and the members of PAPS Service Club had to know how to operate and make minor repairs and adjustments on all this equipment. In addition to daily school duties, PAPS members also had regular duty at games and dances and frequently showed films for community organizations.

Lettermen Tackled Improvement Projects

1963-64 Lettermen's Club officers were: Paul Mihelich, treasurer; Mike Maras, president; and John Rogers, vice-president.

Lettermen's Club is an honorary organization for boys who have won a letter in any varsity sport. The goals set by the club included the promotion of school spirit, the maintenance of high athletic standards, the stimulation of interest in sports, and the display of fine leadership in the school and community.

One project of this year's Lettermen's Club was the earning of money to carry out athletic projects. To raise money, the members sold a countless number of programs at the football and basketball games and sponsored an after-game dance. Another project was to get signs on the highways indicating the school's location.

Under the guidance of Mr. Borreson and Mr. Lancaster, advisers, the club built a useful and strong organization for the future members.

Howells, J. Hulsey, T. Stergion, B. Varney, B. Jensen, W. Lokovsek, M. Schonbachler, G. Cash, J. Farman, and D. Smith.

Officers of Nurses' Club were Janette Clark, vice-president; Alice Lennon, president; and, not pictured, Teri Moeller, secretary-treasurer.

Members of Nurses' Club were: ROW 1: G. Kuehn, N. Trahan, J. Petchnick, M. Argo, P. Cavanaugh, K. Krone, and J. Clark. ROW 2: L. Klinkel, D. Alsgaard, D. Kuzaro, L. Bingham, J. Pausheck, and K. Finnigan. ROW 3: P. Zaputil, A. Lennon, K. Klinkhammer, H. Dobson, M. Eddy, and D. Hall.

To Help Others Is Red Cross-Nurses' Club Aim

This year, as in years past, Red Cross and Nurses' Club have been busy with one goal in mind—to help others. Members of Red Cross accomplished their set goal this year by volunteering for many hours work at Rainier State School. One member stated, after being asked why she faithfully volunteered at Rainier State School: "I do because I have the satisfaction in my heart that I am helping the ones that need it most."

Nurses' Club served others by making tray favors for the Enumclaw Memorial Hospital on three different occasions. The main purpose of this service club is to learn basic nursing techniques and become acquainted with the many phases of the medical professions available for nurses.

Mrs. McDonald was adviser for Nurses' Club, and Mrs. Johnson and Mr. Thompson were the advisers for the Red Cross.

Leading the Red Cross members in projects at Rainier State School were Red Cross officers Rose Stout, president, and Denise Smith, secretary-treasurer.

Students enrolled in the E.H.S. Red Cross were: ROW 1: J. Tamm, L. Carden, M. Johnson, K. Morris, G. Kuehn, M. Helley, M. Argo, J. Petchnick, N. Trahan, D. Alsgaard, F. Schlieker, and C. Smith. ROW 2: A. Bockman, C. Hoff, D. Winsor, L. Heath, S. Forler, L. Klinkel, J. Stevenson,

Academic Progress Was Honor Society Aim

High Grades and Leadership Characterized Members

Honor Society officers were (l to r) Margaret Pendelbury, president; Laurie Leinonen, vice-president; Carolyn Nickels, secretary; and Jeanne Sorensen, treasurer.

1963-64 Honor Society members were: ROW 1: S. Bendt, J. Younkin, N. Pugh, N. McLaughlin, T. Hawk, D. Kuzaro, C. Nickels, S. Cerne, L. Ingram, V. Umek, S. Tice, H. McIntosh. ROW 2: J. Zink, W. Weston, J. Ulman, K. Siskar, P. Fallen, P. Brown, I. Shultz, M. Pendlebury, J. Rogers, R. Draghi, K. Spalding, J. Berilla, T. Moeller, P. Watson. ROW 3: R. Partin, D.

Throughout the year Honor Society proved itself to be an integral organization in our school. While members strived to maintain a 3.2 average or above, they also helped, through various money making projects, to increase the fund for bringing another foreign-exchange student to Enumclaw next year.

Among the activities in which members participated was a paper drive during the fall and winter, a mistletoe sale just before Christmas vacation, and the selling of shares in a foreign exchange student to the student body and community. The result of these various projects was an extremely active club in which nearly all members had a great part.

F.T.A.; Quill and Scroll

Though the Enumclaw chapter of the FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA was organized during the second semester of this year, it rapidly became a fairly large and very active organization. The purpose of F.T.A. was to create a better understanding of teaching for the students interested in learning more about the teaching profession.

Members learned more about the profession through films, lectures, and observation in other Enumclaw schools. In their observation program, students volunteered for assistant teaching jobs in the elementary and junior high school during their study hall or free period.

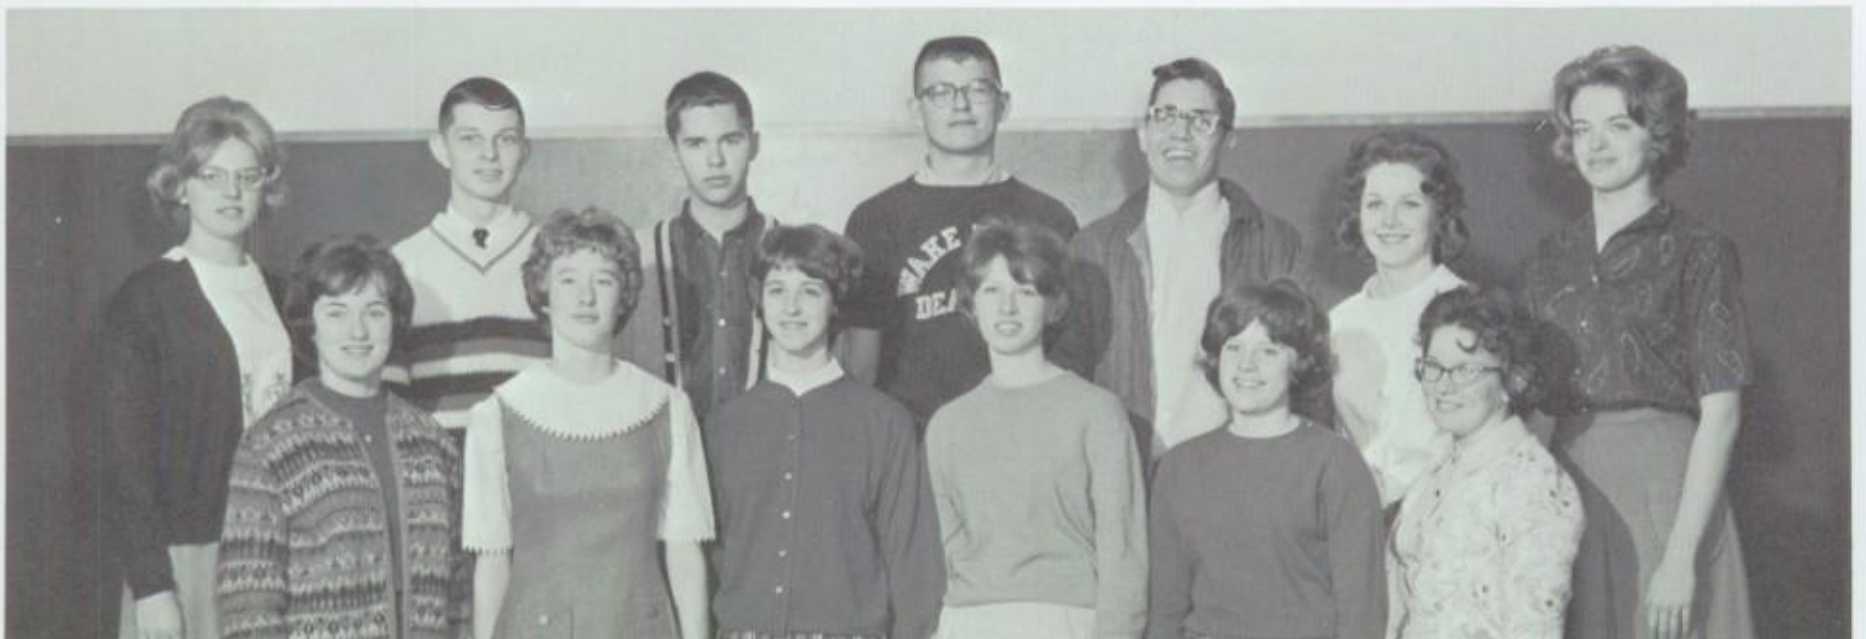

Quill and Scroll was an honorary organization for students working on the yearbook, the newspaper, or the magazine. To achieve membership a student must have done commendable work on one of the publications and be in the upper third of his class scholastically. Each year the new members of Quill and Scroll are named at the traditional publications party held in April.

As pepster's faces reveal, not all came up roses.

The 1963-64 cheerleaders, with substitutes Lois Erickson, Anne McKinnon, Sherilyn VanCamp, and Paula Botts, put much time and energy into promoting pep and good sportsmanship.

During the summer of '63, Queens Peggy and Laurie attended a conference in Ellensburg where they learned many new routines. With the staff they used these new ideas to create the nearly 35 songs and yells performed during the year.

New this year was the Junior Varsity yell staff who supported the "B" squad games. These were sophomores Pat Cavanaugh, Jane Jensen, and Karen Krone.

Team Improvement

The 1963 Hornet grid team had a creditable season of 4 wins and 5 losses. The Hornets opened the season by defeating Mt. Rainier 12-0. Joe Howells scored from the one-yard line and another tally came on a 43 yard pass from Bill Jensen to Ron Miller. In the second game EHS played sound defensive football but they couldn't score and lost to Glacier 13-0. Against Kent the Hornets rolled up 13 first downs to Kent's 2 and also led in all other departments, but the final score was Kent 14, Enumclaw 12.

The Clover Park Warriors gave Enumclaw its third straight loss, 20-0, but the Hornets got back in the win column by defeating Franklin Pierce 7-0. Warren Lokovsek capped a 90 yard drive with a 3 yard smash for the only touchdown and also booted the extra point. The Hornet defense, led by Mike Maras, Jack Spithill and Greg Wagner, held the Cards scoreless. Although Skip Craig ran 48 yards for an Enumclaw touchdown against Lakes and the Hornets had the ball inside Lakes 20 yard line twice more, the final score was Lakes 13, Hornets 6. Against Puyallup, the 1963 Puget Sound League champions, the Hornets lost a hard-fought game 14-0. Enumclaw ended its 1963 season with two smashing victories, beating Auburn 20-0 and Evergreen 31-13. Against Auburn the Hornets scored the first touchdown on a 33 yard double reverse from Bruce Varney to Skip Craig. Lokovsek made two touchdowns, scoring first on a one-yard plunge and running the second half kickoff 85 yards for another. Against Evergreen in the season's finale Enumclaw scored as follows: Lokovsek 3 yard plunge; 12 yard pass, Jensen to Lokovsek; Joe Howells, 81 yard trap play; Skip Craig, intercepted pass and 65 yard runback; Craig one yard plunge.

The Enumclaw Hornets pick up long yardage on a pitchout to Bruce Varney (35), an explosive halfback. Chuck Hansen (60), and Warren Lokovsek (80), clear out the Puyallup defenders for the long run. Even though the Hornets didn't win against the League champs, they played one of their best games of the year.

Enumclaw's pass defense very seldom gave up the long yardage on passes. Joe Howells (44), the defensive safety, makes the Clover Park receiver drop a pass with a hard tackle.

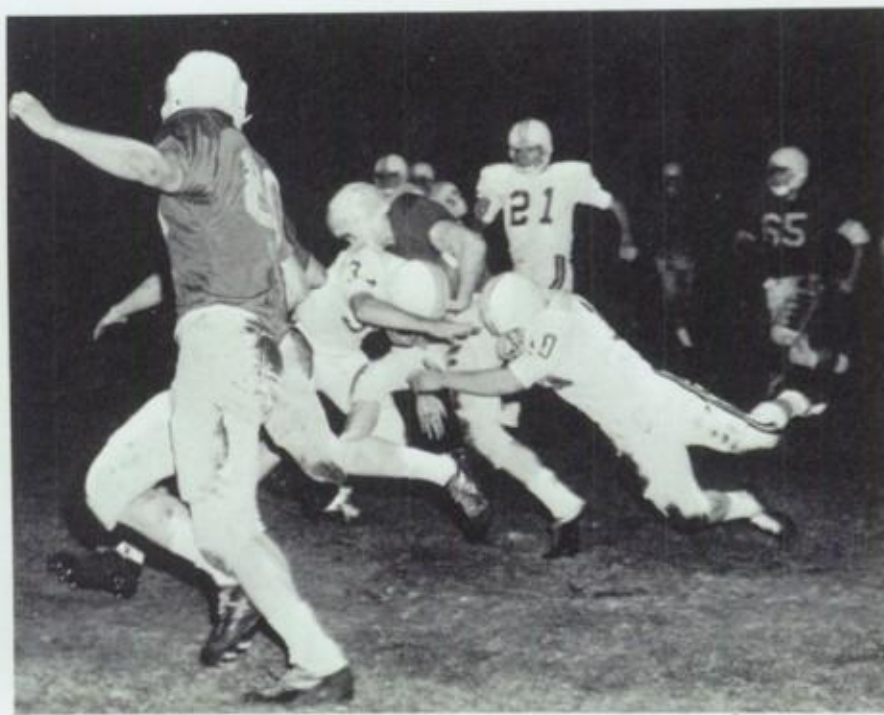

The four coaches who stimulated a new spirit and leadership to the 65 boys who turned out for football were, Assistant Coach John Gorow, Assistant Coach Frank Lancaster, Sophomore Coach Don Vannatter, and Head Coach Wes Borreson.

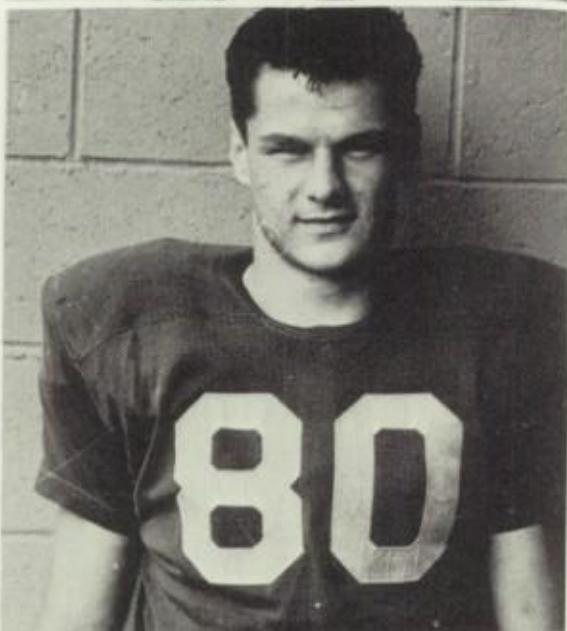

The camera catches Chuck Hansen, guard, while his attention was focused on the game. Chuck was a starter all year and won the best blocking award this season.

The Auburn defense holds Skip Craig to a short gain on an end run. Warren Lokovsek (80), leads the blockers on the play as Mike Schonbachler (65), and Glen Cash (81), who were stalwarts of the offensive line, watch.

The football team of 1963-64 had several outstanding qualities, but the one that stood out was the leadership displayed by the hard-working seniors. Although the going was tough and sometimes discouraging the team stayed together and worked as a unit because of the inspired play of the seniors. This season has been an exception, because for the first time in many years the coaches have had an adequate number of seniors turning out. These seniors displayed a hard-hitting running game and were one of the best defensive units in the league.

Injuries plagued the Hornets for the first games of the season, but after that improvement was steady and the Hornets proved stiff competition for the P.S.L. leaders. The Hornets faced Evergreen in the play-off game and came out on top by the lopsided score of 31-13, thus capturing seventh place in the twelve-team league.

A Variety Of Sports

Girls' Athletic Association provides an outlet for the athletic interests of many girls. The aim of G.A.A. is to teach fair play and promote sports. Assisting Miss Johnson for the 1963-64 year were: Daneel Kuzaro, president; Hazel Dobson and Judy Petchnick, co-vice presidents; Eileen Holm, secretary-treasurer; and Linda Rossi, historian.

To earn a letter in G.A.A., each girl had to earn a certain number of points, which were received for participating in the sports offered, and for rendering various services. Those sports in which the girls participated were volleyball, basketball, badminton, gymnastics, track and field, and baseball. Among the service projects was the decorating of the stage for Homecoming.

Many of the girls in G.A.A. attended the sports playdays held at Highline, Puyallup, Franklin Pierce, and Auburn. Several girls from each school made up the teams, which gave them an opportunity to meet and know players from other districts. One of the most outstanding activities of the year was the field hockey game presented by the national teams of Australia and New Zealand at the Renton football field.

One of the most popular sports of the season was basketball. Hazel Dobson is trying to make the winning points of the game, while Marilyn Eddy guarded.

Spring brought nice weather and the girls began to play baseball, the last sport of the year. Here Rose Draghi (at bat), Karen Spalding (catching), and Eileen Holm (Umpire) wait for the last pitch.

Basketball Prowess Displayed by Hornets

Shown getting the tip in the Glacier game is Warren Lokovsek (34).

Although this year's varsity lacked height, it made a fine showing in the Southern Division of the PSL. ROW 1: Ron Eldridge, Bill Jensen, and Bob

This year's Hornet hoop squad was a combination of six seniors and four juniors. Although the squad lacked height, on occasion it had a shooting hand.

SENIORS: Rick Darby was honorary captain, played high post, was a big rebounder, and quite often had high scoring games. Playing center was Warren Lokovsek, who, despite his height, played well against bigger opponents and was a consistent scorer. John Zumek played at forward spot and did well under the boards, scoring many clutch baskets during the season. Skip Craig played the other forward and showed form that labeled him as the best outside shot of the team. Alternating between guard and forward was Bill Jensen, providing good strength in both positions plus being a good shot and consistent scorer. Another guard was Robin Abramson, who showed much improvement and handled the ball well.

JUNIORS: Jack Spithill played the side or forward and was a driving, high scoring rebounder. Ron Eldridge, another junior forward, played several good ball games and was a good hustler and consistent rebounder. Geri Spalding, a big junior center, added much needed height and muscle under the boards to help the team start its fast breaks. Bob Gramann was a frequent starter who scored many clutch baskets in big games and showed hustle that helped the team.

These are the players that gave EHS one of its most exciting seasons in PSL competition.

Gramann. ROW 2: Skip Craig, John Zumek, and Robin Abramson. ROW 3: Geri Spalding, Warren Lokovsek, Rick Darby, and Jack Spithill.

This year's J.V. team played a tough schedule and lost many close games, but gave much promise for next year. ROW 1: Bruce Lafromboise, Bill Fugate, and Louie Johnson. ROW 2: Bill Kneadler, Dennis Hagan, Ron Miller, and Chuck Bastyens. ROW 3: Jack Wilson, Mike Bell, Jim Nielsen, and Jim Grafton.

Jack Spithill is caught driving around an unidentified Sumner player. Jack used this maneuver quite often earlier in the season to score many points.

The action is centered under the defensive basket as Mike Bell (40) and Ron Eldridge (24) get ready to take a lead pass from Warren Lokvesek (34) and begin one of the vaunted fast breaks of the Hornets.

Close Games Were

The basketball version of Hornets showed their sting, but all too infrequently! Although many hard nights of practice were spent trying to develop the effectiveness of the team, the 1963-64 Hornets picked up only six wins against eleven losses. The squad fared just as well on the road as in the familiar home gym. While on the other team's floor they defeated Evergreen 47-39, Sumner 51-47 during the Christmas Tournament, and won a hard-fought decision over Franklin Pierce 29-20.

The Home court provided an advantage and Hornets put it to good use in running over Glacier 59-27, Clover Park 48-34, and Franklin Pierce 51-47 in a rough contest.

The Hornets, even though they did not win as many as they lost, produced as exciting type of ball that pleased the fans and developed enthusiasm in the student body.

This year the basketball teams of Enumclaw had their needs and demands taken care of by two hard-working sophomores. On the left is Terry Locke and on the right is Richard Crevis.

Despite the lack of height on the team, two juniors, Geri Spalding (44), jumping for the ball, and Jack Spithill, (42), added strong rebounding support and much of the scoring punch.

Crystal Slopes Lure

Taking a break from a hard afternoon of skiing on the popular Green Valley slope are Ski Club president, Allen Greschok, and treasurer, Susan Bennett.

Serving as a weekend retreat from school and homework, the Crystal Mountain slopes attracted 80 Enumclaw High School students during the year. Most went to try their talents on a pair of skis, while others went just to see the new ski area that was attracting so much attention.

About sixty Ski Club members took advantage of the skiing classes offered by the Crystal Mountain Ski School. Lessons were offered each Saturday in three classifications of experience (beginners, intermediate, and advanced) from novices to experts.

Soft powder snow and good skiing prevailed a good deal of the time during the ski season, much to the delight of slope fans. March brought with it many fine days of spring skiing and the beginning of a summer tan for many. The beautiful scenery, exciting thrills, the relief of gliding to the bottom of a difficult slope, plus the painful event of several broken bones and injuries, provided a varied season for Enumclaw skiers.

Jim Henkleman, Hornet harrier, conditions for his second win during workouts for the cross country team. Jim, a letterman, is expected to see plenty of action next season.

Harriers Ran Hard

Cross Country, a distance runner's sport was introduced to Enumclaw for the first time in the fall of 1963. Despite their inexperience, E.H.S. harriers won three of the nine meets in which they participated. This year's team also gained valuable experience that will be an asset to next year's squad. The returning lettermen will be Mike Meeks, Jerry Teeter, Jim Henkleman, Mike Simms, Dayle Markus, and Doug Smith.

Races are not won or lost on the day of the meet, but rather on the practice field. The runners worked long hours under the watchful eye of Coach Radliff. All races were on out-of-town courses, which hindered the Enumclaw team. Not all of these boys turning out were particularly running enthusiasts, but some turned out to get in condition for basketball and other sports.

Stiff PSL Competition Kills EHS Title Hopes

The Hornet baseball team had a reasonably good season, winning about fifty percent of its fifteen games. Bolstered by six returning lettermen, the Hornets started strong by winning three straight games and having one tie. Coach Frank Osborne and Gary Radliff worked the players hard in order to have a strong team to meet the competition of the PSL schools twice the size of EHS. The team even held Sunday practices so they could take advantage of the fair weather that seldom appeared throughout the season, causing many cancellations and much rescheduling.

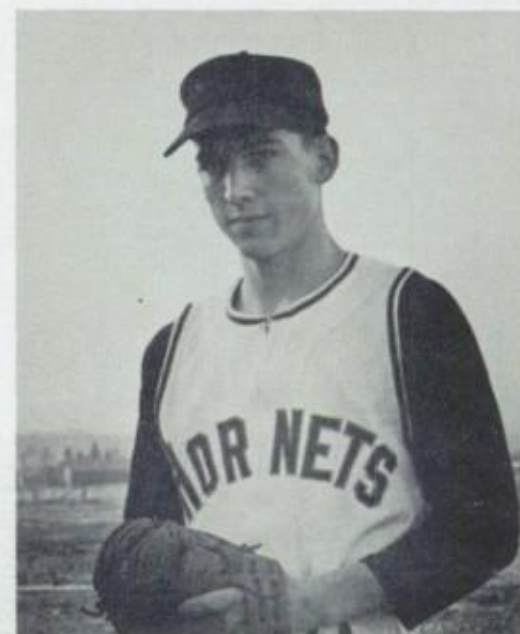

This year's hardworking coaches of the team were Frank Osborne and Gary Radliff. In seven years as head coach, Mr. Osborne has won two southern division titles and one PSL title.

Young Hornet Track Squad Wins Four Meets

Five Enumclaw sprinters who did well at meets were Jim Zinc, Steve Franchini, John Rogers, Bruce Schonbachler, and Mike Meeks.

With the squad composed of 10 sophomores, 9 juniors and only 5 seniors, Coach Ben Dacus, assisted by Coach Frank Lancaster, found the Puget Sound League competition too strong. However, the young Hornet squad did post wins over four of the 14 track teams they faced.

Giving promise of brighter years to come were four juniors and one sophomore who totalled 180 points between them during the season. They were Jim Nielsen (pole vault, hurdles and high jump), Richard Harstson (mile, Steve Franchini (440), Jim Zink (low hurdles) and Mike Meeks, sophomore (440). In the south division qualifying meet, both Harstson and Meeks posted better times than the existing EHS school record; Harstson ran the mile in 4:35.5 and Meeks the 440 in 53.8.

Tennis Team Has Fair Season

Although Enumclaw's tennis team have won the Puget Sound League championship 11 times in the last 14 years, the coveted title has eluded the Hornets for the last two years. Last year EHS placed third with only two losses, but this year the growing power of the PSL schools held the Hornet netters to six wins and four defeats in the the southern division play.

Despite not winning the title, Coach Don Vannatter's squad was a spirited group of 16 sophomores, juniors, and seniors who gave promise of a good season next year. This year's varsity had only four seniors playing regularly, among them Simone Oomens, exchange student from the Netherlands.

Inconsistency Plagues Golfers

Coach Jerry Campbell's Hornet golf team had a season that was filled with accomplishment and disappointment. What should have been a long successful season turned out to be short and on the losing side. After losing a close first match, the squad swept through three straight wins before the team started a complete reversal. Three members were lost to the squad and, although the remaining members continued to score consistently, wins were scarce.

The J.V. golf team had two matches with Auburn, losing the first one by a score of 26-24 and winning the final match 29-12.

Wrestlers Gain Experience

In its first year of wrestling the Hornet team finished with a two win—eight loss record. This is a good record considering the competition the Hornet grapplers faced. Not only are the other PSL schools much larger, but they have all emphasized wrestling for many years. Enumclaw's two wins were over the Glacier and the Mt. Rainier No. 2 varsity.

There are not many sports that come down to such individual competition as wrestling, in which it is strictly the individual who is responsible for a win or a loss. The individual experience gained by the 31 boys out for wrestling should help make a strong team next year as there were only three seniors on the squad.

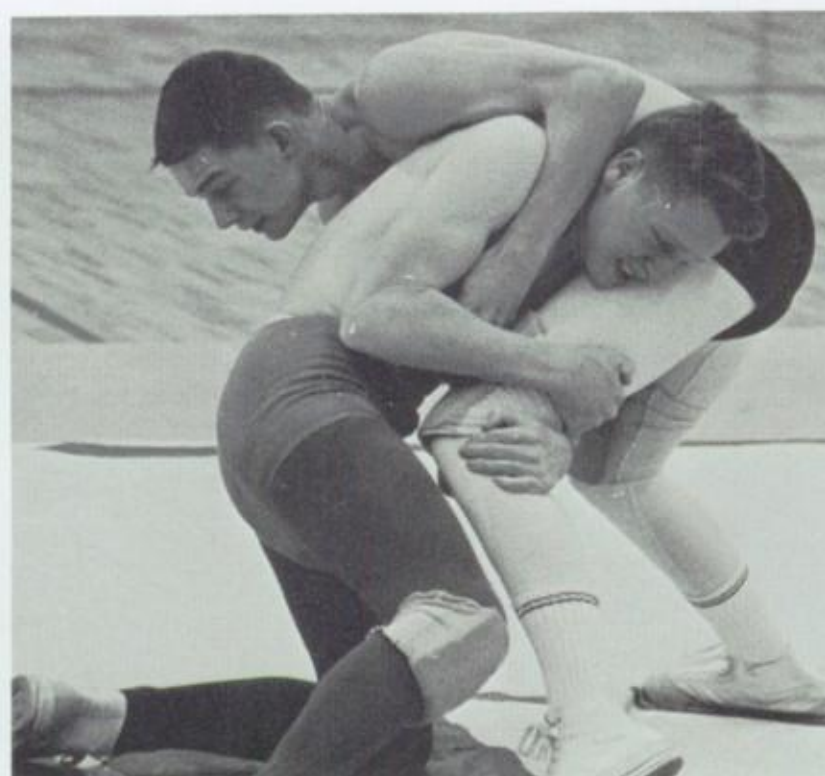

John Allen, a junior, had the season's best record, as he went to a post-season tourney at Lakes and Auburn. Although he lost in the second round of the tourney, his experience should prove a valuable asset to the squad next year.

Faculty

Looking at these two pictures of teachers, one taken in 1922 and the other in 1964, the differences in clothing, hairstyles, and surroundings are readily apparent. However, the most important difference can not be seen. In 1922, and time previous to that, teacher qualifications were much lower than they are today. Before the turn of the century, little more than a high school education was required to be a teacher in a small, rural school, and until the last twenty years teaching certificates were granted in most states for as little as two years of normal school.

Progress in standards for teacher certification has been tremendous in recent years. Presently, in the State of Washington and in many other states, five years of college is required to qualify for either elementary or high school teaching credentials.

With these facts in mind, it is easily recognized that students of today are receiving a better quality of education than has ever been offered previously, and that great opportunities are theirs if they take advantage of them.

Faculty Lunch Room, 1964

FRED M. GRAMANN, Principal

"When you add a fine high school facility and a fine staff of instructors to a group of students who want to learn—then you have a truly fine high school. Enumclaw has every reason to be proud of its traditions and the future of our school looks bright indeed. But we can't sit back and just hope for better things to happen—we must help make them happen. Even with our very fine high school, one that's a little better is always possible."—Fred M. Gramann.

The highest school enrollment in Enumclaw's history created many problems for the 1963-64 School Board. Members of this year's Board were (L TO R) Philip E. Biege, Joe Kovacevich, Floyd F. West, Jack E. Tim,

A Fine School System

CHARLES J. SMITH, Superintendent

"The School Board is elected by the people to administer the affairs of the school district. They meet regularly and all meetings are open to the public. The responsibility for implementing the policies of the board is vested in the Superintendent of Schools and the principals.

Enumclaw School District is very fortunate to have conscientious and dedicated School Board members willing to give generously of their time and energies. Their only compensation is the satisfaction of a job well done."—Charles J. Smith.

and Robert R. Abramson, chairman. STANDING are Albert Bogdan, district business manager, and Superintendent Charles J. Smith.

Was Their Compensation

Enumclaw High School's expanding campus, populated by an ever-increasing number of students, created many problems for the School Board and our administrators. Hampered by a tight budget, it took much diligence on the part of these men to provide us with the facilities and teachers to enable us to attain high goals in education.

In the management of the senior high school Principal Gramann had the help of Vice Principal John Gorrow and four counsellors. Although Mr. Gorrow and the counsellors also had classes to teach, this year saw the establishment of the most complete counselling program ever available at Enumclaw. Counsellors gave students help with personal problems at school, at home, and at work. Grade and study programs, advice on the selection of subjects, and planning for college were all part of our fine counselling program.

Learning Was Pleasant

It's quite a hike to the EHS "outer limits"—our new gymnasium and art, vocational, and agriculture buildings—but students did not mind the walk because their work was more interesting and less tedious. Perhaps the new buildings and modern facilities helped, but it was the enthusiasm of the teachers that made learning an interesting experience in these buildings. The hard work and enthusiasm of Miss Johnson and Mr. Lancaster, who taught sophomore P.E., was matched by that of Miss Neth and Mr. Waldron in art and humanities, two subjects which made impressive progress this year.

Although the gym was her classroom, MISS LEA JOHNSON found that teaching girls physical education required a lot of paper work, too.

MISS SYLVIA NETH's enthusiasm for art was contagious for her students completed many outstanding projects in sculpturing, ceramics, sketching and painting.

RIGHT: Lectures played a large part in Humanities and MR. REX WALDRON's students became proficient in taking notes.

In EHS "Outer Limits"

Five teachers in vocational courses taught skills for future use—both in homeownership and in trades. Practical knowledge and skills with equipment were taught by Mr. Osborne in woodshop, by Mr. Hirschel in metal shop, and by Mr. Gillis in the small engines classes. In agriculture Mr. Teeter trained boys in the operation and business of farming, and Mr. Collins' carpentry class built a three-bedroom house with such skill that the boys were given special consideration by a carpentry union in an apprentice program.

"Small engines" was a new course offered this year and MR. JOHN GILLIS had no trouble keeping his students (only boys) interested.

Under the direction of MR. FRANK OSBORNE, wood shop students became skilled in the use of the most modern tools and equipment.

A three-bedroom house, completed this year by 14 carpentry students, is tangible evidence that MR. JOHN COLLINS is a capable teacher.

In 15 years as ag instructor at EHS MR. MARTIN TEETER has given a solid foundation of agriculture knowledge to hundreds of future farmers.

There was concentration on the part of both teacher and students when MR. BOB HIRSCHEL laid out projects in ag and metal shop.

Even the exhausting job of correcting papers on Canterbury Tales didn't suppress MISS MARIETTA STARK's ever-ready smile.

Besides keeping the library up-to-date with new books, MR. DICK WORTMAN specialized in friendly assistance to students.

English and Commercial

Seldom does a high school have all specialists in the English and commercial fields, but this year Enumclaw did have. Mr. Georvasilis (bookkeeping and business English) and Miss Kuelper (shorthand and typing) were experts, and under the teaching of Mrs. Johnson, Miss Starks and Miss J. Olson, standards in junior and senior English were raised greatly.

Also specialists in their fields were Mr. Wortman, Mr. Campbell, Mr. Gorg and Mr. Borreson. Mr. Wortman brought high standards and efficient operation to the library, while Mr. Campbell's specialty was our three school publications. Under Mr. Gorg we had complete audio-visual facilities, and as athletic director, Mr. Borreson was highly regarded in our community and our league.

Many of America's best writers were challenging to MISS JUDY OLSON's honors English students—and the papers students wrote were a trial to Miss Olson.

Boys as well as girls found business English profitable under the expert teaching of MR. NICHOLAS GEORVASILIS.

Teachers Were Specialists

RIGHT: Drilling, more drilling, and attention to detail was stressed by MISS SONdra KUELPER in both beginning and advanced shorthand.

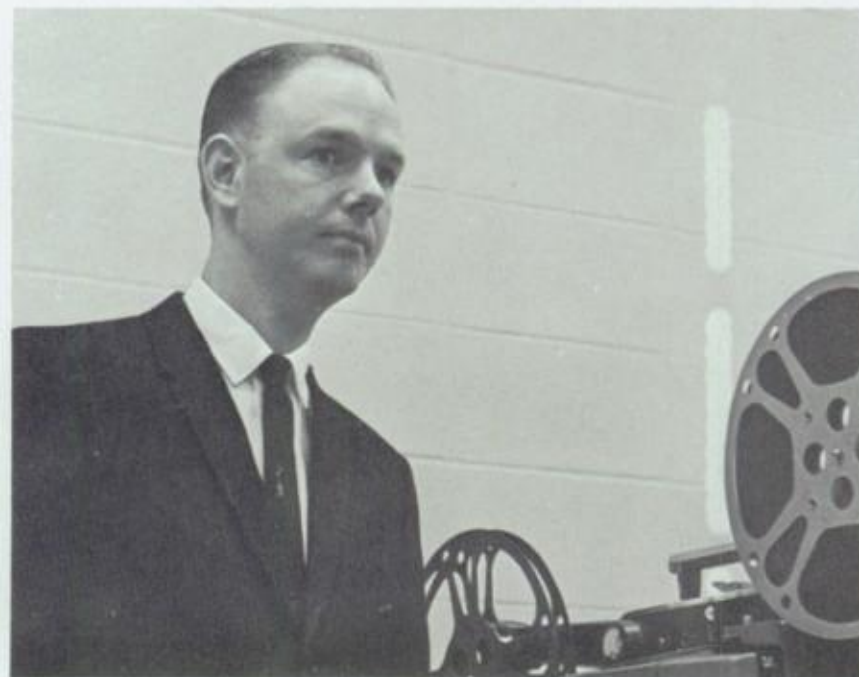

During a basketball game MR. GERALD CAMPBELL, publications adviser, discusses pictures for the annual with MR. FRED BANNISTER, official Cascadian photographer.

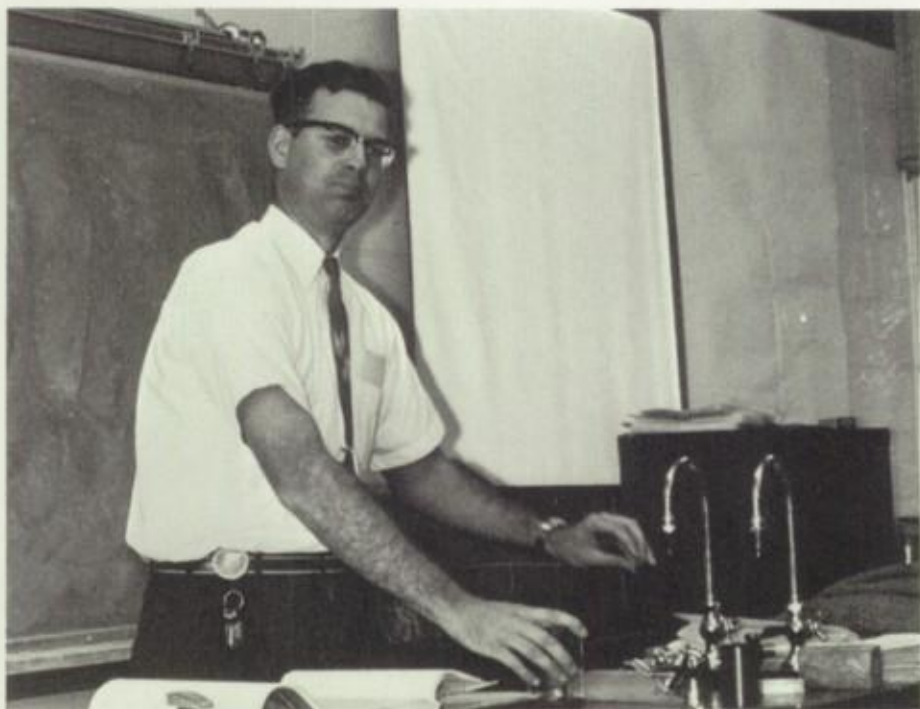

It's hard to tell whether MR. WES BORRESON is happy or unhappy at the progress of an EHS wrestler during a PSL match.

Audio-Visual and speech were MR. CARROLL GORG's official assignments, but photography for the publications was one of his most harassing obligations.

MR. PHILLIP POPPLETON is astounded by a sophomore's conclusion during a biology laboratory session.

Progressive Teaching Was a Faculty Goal

In both the physical science and social science fields, the Enumclaw faculty has proven to be more than just sufficient. Through progressive teaching techniques, both departments have fulfilled their responsibility by both inspiring and educating tomorrow's citizens. One step forward was the introduction of team teaching in history by Mr. Vannatter and Mr. Dacus. An advanced chemistry class taught by Mr. Kapp was one step beyond regular high school chemistry, and the BSCS biology program and a new lab gave Enumclaw one of the top biology departments in the state.

"This'll stump them!" MR. DON VANNATTER makes up a 6-weeks history examination.

Listening attentively to a committee report, an integral part of the team teaching program in history, is MR. BEN DACUS.

MR. DAVID KAPP wonders what his chemistry class will surprise him with next.

In addition to teaching math and algebra, MR. WILL GARRISON constructed a "homemade" switchboard for lighting the school plays.

Music, Foreign Languages Taught by Specialists

Although music is a universal language, Enumclaw's curriculum was practical and also included French, German, Spanish, and Latin. In both music and languages EHS had highly qualified instructors whose job was made easier by new, specialized facilities in the new classroom wing which was occupied last September. In their new "home" Mr. Walden (band) and Mr. Estby (chorus) led students to a greater knowledge, appreciation, and perfection of the language of music. Aided by new classrooms, the latest audio-visual aids, and a modern language laboratory Mr. McKernan (French and Latin), Mr. Johnson (German and Spanish) and Miss Olson (French and German) taught language skills, and also encouraged international understanding and gave students an insight into the rich heritage from which our English language is derived.

Through the master control unit MR. JOSEPH McKERNAN intently monitors a student's French pronunciation.

MR. LES WALDEN, band director, seems pleased as he critically observes the try-out of a student conductor.

MR. THORGER JOHNSON used the new language lab to its fullest in teaching Spanish and German.

With enthusiasm and vigor MR. BOB ESTBY directed the EHS chorus to many superb performances.

Faculty "Refreshed" At Weekly Meetings

This year's regular Wednesday afternoon faculty meetings frequently lasted two hours but the teachers were kept happy by "goodies" (almost always edible) made by home economics classes. The regular meeting place was our modern home ec room which Mrs. Hildebrand kept attractive by ever-changing bulletin board displays including a daily inspirational motto.

Equally as progressive as the home economic department is Enumclaw's health program under Mrs. MacDonald and Mr. Harrison. Hearing tests are conducted annually, modern health records are kept from the kindergarten up, and vigilance is ever maintained to safeguard the health environment of Enumclaw students.

At a regular afternoon faculty meeting Mr. Vannatter and Miss Kuelper are first in line for "goodies" and coffee prepared by one of Mrs. Hildebrand's home ec classes.

MRS. SALLY HILDEBRAND thinks up a new motto daily to put on the bulletin board in the home ec room.

The school nurse, MRS. EVA MacDONALD, kept health records for 2443 pupils in Enumclaw's four school buildings.

Hearing tests and speech therapy for the entire district was MR. SAM HARRISON's assignment.

MRS. NORMA BREEDEN was secretary to Mr. Gramann and also kept all SBA and organizations accounts in order.

We Thank Them All For Many Services

Early in the morning, at noon, and late in the evening their work for us goes on behind the scenes. Their pride in their job and their pride in our school makes our environment and our day more pleasant. Their patience with us and their willingness to help is an example from which we can profit. To these important people behind the scenes—our secretaries, our cafeteria ladies, our custodians and our bus drivers—we give our sincere respect and our thanks.

Pride in their work, good humor, and a willingness to help characterized our custodians. L to R: MR. FRED WEBER, MR. GRANT GOODALE, MR. LLOYD MEEKS, AND MR. AL GHIGLIONE.

At the snack bar, milkshakes and sundaes were MRS. DOROTHY WALDOCK's specialty.

Whether hamburgers or hot lunch, MRS. LENORA STRANZ saw that we were served quickly.

Despite countless interruptions that made most days in the office hectic, MRS. BETTY WHELOCK was always cheerful and friendly.

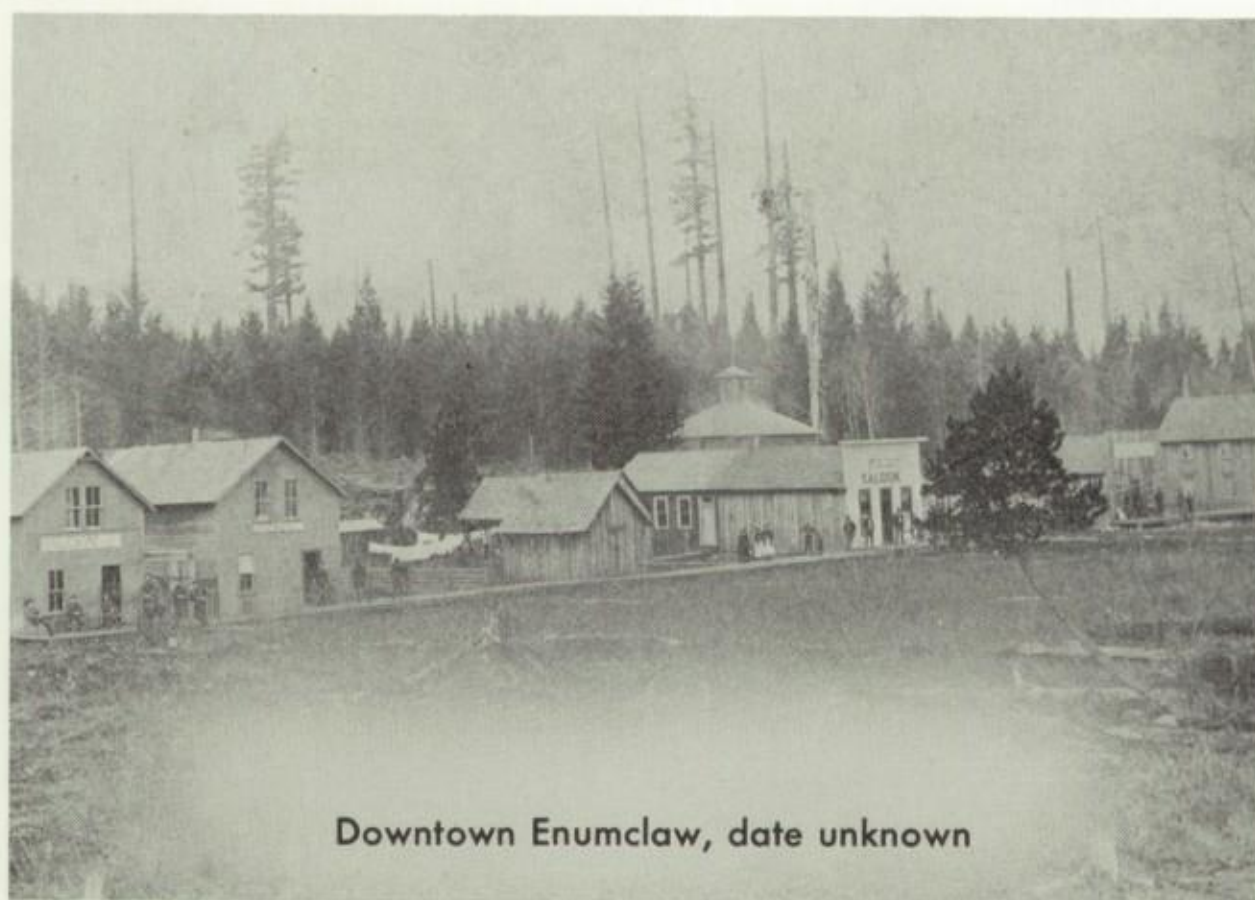

A total of more than 110 miles per day was driven by these men to get us to school safely and on time. ROW 1: Ron Malidore, Jack Billingsley, Frank Quimby, and Ed. Storm. ROW 2: Clarence Malidore, Grant Goodale, Bob Van Buskirk and Homer Morgan. ROW 3: Marvin Norman, Otto Larum, Dick Lanz, and Houstie Allen.

These We Thank

As the final page of the 1964 CASCADIAN draws this year's memories to a close, the many people who gave of their time and efforts must be acknowledged. To Mrs. Rufus Smith, Mrs. Carl Larum, and Mrs. Anna Montgomery go special thanks for providing the old pictures used to develop the theme. Once again Mr. Jim Palm and Mr. Weldon Johnson, American Yearbook representatives, helped with such work as planning the cover and layouts. Also, Mr. Bannister, with a deep personal interest and enthusiasm for the annual, served as official CASCADIAN photographer, supplying the staff with many fine pictures. Working with Mr. Bannister to get the aerial photo of our school was Mr. Walter Nickels, piloting the plane of Mr. John Kranz, who allowed the CASCADIAN to use his plane free of charge. To all of these people the annual staff extends sincere thanks for the many services they rendered.

Many people around our school also aided in the production of the 1964 CASCADIAN. Of course, the annual staff itself worked hard throughout the year, both in class and out, to produce an annual different from any other. In the photography department Mr. Carroll Gorg and the school photographers captured E.H.S. school life in pictures. Also, the entire student body and the faculty did their share by co-operating with the staff to gain needed material for the CASCADIAN.

Finally, the business and professional men must be thanked for their financial help through advertising and sponsorship. Without their important contributions the CASCADIAN would not have been such a success.

To all of these people I would personally like to express my sincere appreciation. Each individual mentioned, plus many more, were so important in helping with our CASCADIAN.

So, now as the covers of a school year filled with memories are closed, there is but one more thing to say—let us all look toward a promising future in education; another installment in the great and continuous "Epic of Progress."

Thank you and Good Luck.
